Black Point In New Move For Gas Service

A petition for formation of a special assessment district in Black Point to pay part of the cost of extending natural gas service to the community was being circulated today.

Black Point residents were turned down by the California Public Utilities Commission last March on a request for extension of natural gas lines to the area. The commission upheld Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s contention that the extension would be uneconomic.

Copies of the special assessment district petition have been mailed to 266 property owners by a committee headed by Mrs. Leo J. Nolan of 80 Harbor drive.

The plan for an assessment district has already been termed workable by the Public Utilities Commission, Mrs. Nolan reported today.

"We have received back about half of the petitions needed," she said.

The plan, she said, has the backing of the Black Point Improvement Club.

An assessment district would be forced to raise $35,534 over a 10-year period to help defray PGE's costs of laying a four-mile-long line along Atherton avenue and into Black Point.

"If we can get as many as 150 to 175 persons to join the district, the cost per home would be about $2.50 a month. If everybody will get behind us, we'll get the gas line," declared Mrs. Nolan.

Hub Skipper's Ship Saves 24 In Pacific

Twenty-four Japanese fishermen were rescued from a makeshift raft in mid-Pacific today by a Navl cargo ship commanded by Capt. Hans C. von Wein of 3 Caroline avenue, San Anselmo.

Despite their ordeal, the 24 emerged apparently without injury, Captain von Wein radioed Military Sea Transportation Service in San Francisco.

The rescue occurred about 6 a.m. today (PST) 300 miles west of Wake Island.

The Japanese were aboard the 148-ton fishing vessel Chiyoh Maru. Last night, the Chiyoh Maru sent out a distress signal as it began to sink from a large hole in the bow. How the damage occurred was not known to the Navy.

The cargo ship Jack J. Pendleton, operated in the Pacific by the Military Sea Transportation Service, sped to the rescue.

By the time the Pendleton reached the scene in mid-ocean, the fishing vessel had gone down without a trace, the Navy reported. The crew was clinging to a makeshift raft.

With Captain von Wein directing operations, the 24 were taken aboard the Pendleton, which left San Francisco Dec. 6 en route to Guam with a Department of Defense cargo.

Globe-Trotting Artists Pause In San Rafael

Two happy-go-lucky Japanese artists, armed with paintbrushes and disarming smiles, puttered into San Rafael today on their three-wheeled Mazda on the first leg of a leisurely world tour.

Setsuo Kirinoo, 33, of Tokyo and his companion, Itsuo Jimbo, 30, drove into Sun Valley to paint portraits at the home of Peter Johnson, 2409 Fifth avenue. Johnson is assistant manager at the Mitsui steamship line, on which the two artists arrived this month.

"Everybody thinks Paris is the place to go, but we decided we'd be different," said Kirinoo, who sports a pixie type haircut. Kirinoo says Americans are even better than they thought. "Every time we stop at a corner and look lost, several Americans run to help us. People here are wonderful."

American women aren't exactly the giants that they had expected. Kirinoo, a married man, finds many of them petite and attractive. "Their dress isn't much different from some we see in Japan," said Kirinoo. "But they do have beautiful legs!"

His quiet partner, Jimbo, a bachelor, nodded vigorously. See ARTISTS, page 4

Our Drinking Habits Social Imbiber Worst Menace On Highway

By HOWARD WHITMAN

It's high time at least three points are cleared up about the bottle and the throttle:

1. The social drinker is a worse menace on the road than the roaring drunk.
2. Coffee does not offset the effects of alcohol.
3. Chemical tests for drunken driving can be passed by many drunken drivers.

Let's take these one at a time.

The roaring drunk knows he's drunk, or at least everyone else does. To be sure, he's a potential killer when he gets behind the wheel, but the fact is he doesn't get behind the wheel nearly as frequently as the driver who's had "a few" and is sure he's cold sober.

"The real highway delinquent appears to be the so-called social drinker," states a report of the Assn. of Casualty and Surety Companies. "The driver who has had just enough alcohol in his system to release his inhibitions, who has reached the state of apparent stimulation, or has a false sense of well-being, is the one who forms a significant link in the casual chain of many traffic accidents.

"Since his moral code is temporarily relaxed, the driver with 'only a few' tends to abandon normal precautions. He often submits to an urge to use a heavy foot on the accelerator, to pass when other cars are approaching, to take over the right of way or create other tight squeezes as if he owned the road.

"Unfortunately, this 'superman complex' is acquired by the drinking driver at a time when his physical and mental qualifications for driving have been seriously impaired."

There's a catch here, almost a trap. People think the great danger in driving after drinks is impairment of the sheer physical ability to drive.

Price Boosts End Gasoline War In Marin

Gasoline prices in Marin County were up as much as four cents today.

"Price war" service station of major oil companies were selling gasoline today at 28.9 cents per gallon for regular and 32.9 cents for Ethyl, an increase from "gas war" prices of 24.9 and 29.9 cents.

Cut-rate service stations posted higher prices of 26.9 cents for regular and 30.9 cents for Ethyl, an increase from prices earlier this week of 23.9 and 28.9 cents.

$3.8 MILLION MARIN CITY BID LOWEST

Belmont Company Beats 4 Others For Low-Rent Job

Williams and Burrows of Belmont was low bidder on the proposed Marin City 300-unit low-rent housing project as bids were opened yesterday afternoon by the Marin County Housing Authority.

The firm bid $3,813,470, lowest of five. Other bidders were Theodore G. Meyer and Sons of San Francisco, $3,863,745; Louis C. Dunn, Inc., San Francisco, $3,949,000; Barrett Construction Co., San Francisco, $4,065,300, and Baldwin Contracting Co., Marysville, $4,171,600.

BIDS ANALYZED

Housing authority Chairman Omar E. McNally announced the bids would be analyzed and the successful bidder would be formally notified, probably within a week.

Williams and Burrows is one of the prime contractors on the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary project on Strawberry Point.

Aaron G. Green, who is associated with John C. Warnecke as architects on the project, expressed delight with the bids. "The figures are under our estimates and we are especially happy with the caliber of the firms who bid," he declared.

U.S. CONSULTATION

Bert Klahn, housing authority executive director, said the bids would be analyzed with consultation from officials in the regional Public Housing Administration office in San Francisco prior to the contract award.

Specifications call for completion of the building project within 660 calendar days after the award, with an added 150 days for landscaping.

The 32-acre site at the south end of the project will accommodate 28 residential buildings plus the project administration building. There will be 13 one-story structures, each containing eight three-bedroom apartments; five one-story buildings with four one-bedroom apartments; two one-story structures with four one-bedroom apartments, and eight multi-story apartment buildings, ranging up to five stories.

Incendiary Bullet Set Big Blaze

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO — A young rifleman has admitted firing an incendiary bullet which touched off California's worst brush fire of the year.

Investigators said Jerry Stewart, 21, was target practicing on his father's ranch near here last Sunday and failed to note one of the bullets was incendiary.

The shell set dry grass ablaze. Stewart said he tried to beat out the fire but it spread quickly in the rolling hills near this historic mission village. No charges have been filed against him.

The fire now has blackened more than 60,000 acres and destroyed 17 cabins and homes. More than 2,000 fire-fighters are battling it. They hope to control the blaze sometime tomorrow.

The fire moved south onto the Camp Pendleton Marine reservation but caused no damage.

STOCK MARKET ROLLS TO NEW RECORD HIGH

NEW YORK — Stocks rolled up to a new high today with American Telephone & Telegraph setting the pace. Final prices were a little under the day's best.

AT&T closed at $226, up 3. At one time it sold as high as $227.12. Trading was active and the ticker fell behind floor transactions several times, including at the close.

Yesterday, after directors had recommended a 3-to-1 split of the stock and a higher dividend, AT&T jumped $21.

Limited 1-Way Plan Urged For San Rafael

A limited one-way traffic pattern will be installed to unsmar traffic in San Rafael's congested Irwin street underpass area beginning next year, if the city council approves.

A "one-way circle" proposal was unanimously adopted today by the mayor's committee on one-way streets, headed by Chairman Richard Cuthbert. Since Cuthbert was absent today, real estate man Jerry Stone served as acting chairman during the breakfast meeting at King Cotton restaurant.

Here is the plan approved by the committee:

At the Irwin street underpass, all traffic will go one-way eastbound, then one-way north on Irwin past Ames Ford to Third street, then one-way westbound on Third past the

U.S. Agrees To Let Russ Official Visit

WASHINGTON — The United States promptly agreed today to a Soviet request for Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, a close associate of Nikita Khrushchev, to visit Washington early next month.

A State Department spokesman added that if Mikoyan was interested in seeing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, he assumed Dulles would receive him.

Press officer Lincoln White said he could not speak for President Eisenhower. But in general, he declared, he assumed that "anyone he (Mikoyan) wished to see would be glad to see him."

The Associated Press learned last night that Mikoyan had proposed a visit to Washington to see Soviet Ambassador Mikhail A. Menshikov and that the request was forwarded here yesterday for government action by the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

A visit by Mikoyan would open up the possibility of high level Soviet-American policy talks. (Earlier story on page 13.)

Pool Owners Caught In Finance Row

Subcontractor Files Liens On Eight; Most Have Paid

Failure of a Marin representative of Paddock of California, swimming pool building firm, to pay a subcontractor, has resulted in filing of liens against at least eight Marinites who, in most cases, have paid for the pools.

The contractor involved is Don Webb of Stockton, who has handled installations of Paddock Pools in Marin and other Bay Area counties, apparently as an independent contractor with a Paddock franchise.

Webb was not available for comment on the matter today. However, two pool owners against whom liens have been filed told the Independent-Journal that they talked to Webb and his attorney, James Van Dyke of Stockton, yesterday and were told Webb planned to file a petition in bankruptcy today or tomorrow.

Van Dyke, too, was unreachable today. His office said he is ill, and a person who answered his home telephone said he "too ill to be disturbed."

William Williams, general manager for Webb at Stockton, said he cannot make any comment on the matter "at this time."

Meanwhile, eight Paddock pool purchasers in Marin plan to hire an attorney to fight the liens.

The eight liens were filed by Shamrock Materials Inc. See POOLS, page 4

Man Found Bound, Tells Of Kidnaping

A Novato laborer, who says he was kidnaped by two young hitchhikers yesterday afternoon, was found at 2 o'clock this morning near Hamilton Air Force Base, tied up with his own shoe laces inside his car.

John Tom Craig, 38, a laborer living at 1012 Seventh street, Novato, told sheriff's deputies he was forced to accompany two young men on a drive in to San Francisco where they tried to pick up women off the streets without success.

Craig said they drove him to a spot near the Hamilton Air Force Base gate and left him on the floor of the back seat of his car, his feet and hands tied with the shoe laces, about 1:30 m. Thirty minutes later, California Highway Patrolman John Halligan spotted the parked car and freed Craig.

Craig said he had worked for Ghilotti Brothers on a Petaluma job yesterday and was headed back to Marin about 3:30 p.m. He picked up two hitchhikers, about 19 years old, north of Novato. They wanted to get a bottle of liquor, which Craig bought in Novato. Then they suggested looking for girls.

When Craig said he did not have enough gasoline, one of the youths slapped him, and told him to drive to the Ghilotti Brothers yard for gasoline. Then, one of the kidnappers took the wheel and drove toward San Francisco, Craig related.

Craig said he was tied up near the Golden Gate Bridge. The pair drove around San Francisco for several hours before driving him back to Hamilton Field, he claimed.

State Lends $585,302 To Dixie District

The state Allocations Board in Sacramento yesterday approved a $585,302 building aid loan to the San Jose School District in North Marin.

The money is to be used for improvements and additions to the Meadow Park School at Hamilton Air Force Base. The school's present five classrooms are to be improved, and 10 classrooms, a multi-use room, a library, cafeteria and administrative and storage facilities are to be added.

Work is expected to start in March.

The loan approved yesterday is part of a total borrowing of two million dollars authorized by district voters in 1955.

Martinelli Again To Head Appeal Court

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of Marin Superior Court will again serve as presiding judge of the appellate department of Marin Superior Court for 1959.

Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson today announced Martinelli's reappointment as presiding judge, and designated all three superior court judges as members of the appellate department. The other two judges are Thomas F. Keating and N. Charles Brusatori.

The three-man appellate court hears appeals from judgments of the municipal courts.

Russian Envoy Lonely At Dinner: No Lady

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov found himself in something of a lone wolf role at last night's White House state dinner for diplomats, with "no lady allocated for me."

Public Invited To Tour Russian Ship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Capt. Igor Sergeev invited the public to visit his Russian merchant ship today, but only after overcoming vociferous opposition from Police Chief Tom Cahill.

The chief expressed fear that anti-Communist elements here might cause trouble.

"But we are being welcomed so warmly," argued Sergeev after docking the Vityaz yesterday, "and we want to offer our hospitality in return."

Cahill compromised for half-hour guided tours of the vessel's scientific laboratories by groups of no more than 60.

Protocol seemed to be taking a backseat in other ways.

President Eisenhower passed up champagne with his guests from 43 nations to join 44 choir boy entertainers having soft drinks.

The White House staged the first of two dinners for the heads of 83 foreign missions.

Of the 78 guests last night, there were 10 "extra" men and Ambassador Menshikov was one of them.

The usually smiling Russian, looking a little glum, walked alone as the diplomats and ladies went two by two into the East Ballroom for an after-dinner musicale.

When reporters asked why he was alone, he smiled and explained that his wife was home in Moscow and there was "no lady allocated for me."

He was still alone as the guests went into a late evening buffet. He was among the first guests to leave.

1,500 Attended Party Of Fairfax Merchants

About 1,500 persons thronged into the Fairfax Parkade for a party given by the Fairfax Merchants Assn., on Saturday night, reported William T. Benson. The merchants distributed 700 candy canes to children, he reported at yesterday noon's meeting of the merchants association.

Next meeting of the Fairfax merchants will be at noon on Jan. 7 at 123 Bolinas road.

Albert Field In Line To Get Obsolete Plane From Navy

San Rafael's Albert Field may get an obsolete Navy jet plane within the next two months.

Recreation Director Joseph Rodota announced at the recreation and park commission meeting last night that the Navy has promised to give San Rafael a jet plane as soon as one becomes available at the Alameda Naval Air Station. "They expect to declare more planes obsolete within a month or so, and they promised to give us first crack at them," Rodota said.

The plane would be an F7U3 jet. These planes are being distributed to various cities. The San Rafael Optimist Club has agreed to pay for the cost of bringing the jet from the Alameda station to San Rafael. All lethal weapons and secret material will be stripped from the plane before delivery.

The jet will be parked in a triangular space adjacent to Albert Park lane, next to playground equipment.

In other actions last night, the recreation and park commission:

1. Authorized Rodota to consult with the Gallinas Village Services District for expansion of a summer recreation program for Gallinas Village youngsters in 1959. In the past, the summer program at Mc-

Phail School has been limited to those 6 to 12 years old. Residents want to have the program expanded to include those in the 13-to-15 age group. The district has funds to help pay for an acceptable program. Harry Thomas is the recreation chairman of the Gallinas group.

2. Approved the use of Albert Field for the annual Scout-O-Cade on May 23, 1959.

3. Authorized Rodota to attend the American Institute of Park Executives conference in Redwood City, Jan. 18-21.

The number of married couples in the United States was almost 39 million in 1957, an increase of 37 per cent over the 1940 figure of 28.5 million.

Car Leaves Road Avoiding Deer

A Richmond man suffered minor injuries at 8 p.m. yesterday, when a deer jumped in front of his car, eastbound on Shoreline highway in West Marin, and the car ran into an embankment as the driver swerved to miss the animal.

The driver, Carlos Rivera, 20, was only bruised and did not require hospital treatment, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Cleveland, Ohio was named for one of its founders, Gen. Moses Cleaveland. Somewhere the "a" was dropped from the name.

Charges Dismissed In Ross Barn Bar Case

Charges were dropped yesterday against Mrs. Carolyn Lombardi Farnham, Ross socialite, who was accused of contributing to the delinquency of minors in a plushly furnished bar and barn on the Lombardi estate last October.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court dismissed the case on the recommendation of Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich.

Weissich said the barn has been stripped of the bar, trapdoors and walls, and Mrs. Farnham has given written consent for law enforcement officers to inspect the premises at any time.

Weissich said he consulted Juvenile Judge Thomas F. Keating, Sheriff David Menary and probation officers, and all agreed that the charges should be dismissed since the barn has been stripped and the owner has given officers the right to inspection.

Nine officers, led by sheriff's inspectors, raided the Farnham barn on Glenwood avenue on the night of Oct. 25. They found Mrs. Farnham with several guests. The party included her 18-year-old son and two other juveniles, a 17-year-old girl and an 18-year-old boy. Officers found liquor in the plush bar and doors leading into the hayloft.

The bar was known as the "Chateau Club."

A San Francisco 49er fan from San Rafael, whose picture was snapped during last Sunday's scuffle at Kezar Stadium, was arrested today by San Francisco police on a charge of interfering with police.

Glenn Allen Bernd, 22, of 143 West End avenue was arrested at a Fourth street used car lot where he works. He was booked by San Rafael Police Lt. Charles Chiesa at 11:30 a.m. today and turned over to San Francisco police.

Bernd was identified from a widely printed picture showing police tugging at a fan whose shirt was partly pulled off his back. Bernd is shown hanging on to one of the officers' hands, Police Chief Frank Kelly said.

Marin Acts To Extradite Book Agent

Marin County started extradition proceedings today against Caryl Chessman's literary agent, Joseph Longstreth, 38, accused of conspiring to smuggle Chessman's book manuscript out of San Quentin Prison's Death Row last year.

Dist. Atty. W. O. Weissich received a telephone call from the sheriff of Richmond, Ind., this noon. Longstreth was bailed out for $500 from the Richmond jail. According to the Richmond sheriff, Longstreth has not indicated whether he will appear in Marin court voluntarily.

Two others indicted by the Marin County Grand Jury on the same charge are San Francisco attorney George T. Davis and Prentice-Hall Publishing Co. in San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the author of the manuscript, "The Face of Justice," returned to Death Row in San Quentin yesterday from Los Angeles. Chessman is fighting in Los Angeles court to escape the gas chamber.

Louis Nelson, associate warden, said Chessman had no comment to make on the Los Angeles hearing.

sent. The pair are painting portraits of Zoe Johnson, 4, and Carter Minnigerode, a 4-year-old Marinwood girl.

Although they know only a few words of English, they get along fine. Day before yesterday, a policeman stopped them on Market street and said something about "papers." Kirinoe kept showing his driver's license and his passport, but the officer shook his head. Finally, the policeman took them to a newspaper stand and got this point across. He had seen the picture of the Japanese artists in a newspaper. This was their only brush with the law.

Crossing the Bay Bridge one day, they offered their quarter at the toll gate, but the toll collector smiled and said the man in front of them had paid, so they could pass free of charge.

The pair will head southward and hope to be in Mexico when it gets cold. Then they plan to return to the United States in spring and head eastward, hitting rural areas in particular. Next summer they hope to reach Europe in a tour that will cover 51,000 miles.

Their Japanese three-wheeler gets about 30 miles per gallon. "Gasoline is cheap compared to Japan," said Kirinoe. Japanese gas sells for more than 40 cents a gallon.

POOLS

of San Rafael, principal Marin subcontractor on the pool jobs. They total $3,319.42.

Frank Levey, owner of Vogue Cleaners, said he is one of the "victims." His pool, at his home at 81 Fairway drive, Mill Valley, was completed about 85 days ago, he said.

Another victim is Don Mozley of Alto, well-known San Francisco radio commentator. Mozley indicated the staff of his station's radio network is at work in Los Angeles, where Paddock of California maintains its principal offices, in an attempt to learn details of the matter.

One of the angry owners of lien-slapped pools today read this comment to the Independent-Journal, taken from a Paddock booklet published in Los Angeles:

"Each year we witness the spectacle of numerous builders flaring into prominence and shortly thereafter exploding into bankruptcy, leaving a host of uncompleted jobs, material and labor liens and other headaches for the owner to pick up and pay for.

"Out of the confusion and conflicting claims and divergent prices, you as a pool owner have the assurance that Paddock is 'solid as a rock,' will deal with you fairly and build your new pool at the lowest price consistent with high values and good engineering."

The pool owner punctuated the reading with an angry snort as he recounted the facts that he has paid in full for his Paddock pool and now finds a lien slapped on it through failure of the Webb organization to pay its subcontractor.

No exact information as to number of pools involved in the tangle in the Bay Area, or the amount of money involved, was available today. However, one estimate put the number of pools at "about 100."

The Webb operation is known as "Paddock Pools of Marin" and maintains an office at 1912 Redwood highway, Corte Madera.

2 Sausalitans Hospitalized

Two well-known Sausalitans, Fire Chief Mathew J. Perry and Henry Meyer, retired property developer, were taken to hospitals yesterday for observation of ailments not yet identified.

Perry was seriously ill more than a year ago but had apparently recovered. Meyer, who lives alone at 117 Caledonia street, was in apparent good health before being stricken.

Perry was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco and Meyer to Marin General Hospital.

sical ability to handle a car. It's a danger, all right.

But more and more evidence points to a greater danger: The cockiness, the bravado, the puffed up confidence and the clouded judgment of the driver who's been drinking. This is the grim stuff of which drinking accidents are made. It is the rattle of death in "I drive better when I'm drunk."

Point 2 which needs clearing up is the coffee story. Some people have the idea that coffee "neutralizes" alcohol. Or that it somehow speeds alcohol out of the system. It does neither.

The virtues of coffee for one who's been drinking are (1) it may settle his stomach if he's about to get sick, (2) it may keep him awake if he's about to fall asleep, (3) he will be less drunk to the extent that he's drinking coffee instead of more booze.

Once alcohol gets into the body, the phenomenon which we call "sobering up" is the process of eliminating it. Some comes out in the urine, some in the breath, and some through the skin; but these routes accommodate only about one-tenth of the alcohol. The rest has to be burned up, or oxidized, in the body. The liver handles most of it, the brain handles some.

It takes time. If five drinks are downed in one hour, and no more is consumed, it will be at least 12 hours before the brain has burned up its alcohol. And drinking coffee won't hasten the process.

Point 3 to be set straight is the drunk test.

Forty-six states use chemical tests to determine whether a driver is "under the influence" of liquor. The customary scale is:

Safe—.05 per cent of alcohol in the blood (two ounces of whiskey or two bottles of beer. Questionable—up to 15 per cent of alcohol in the blood (six ounces of whiskey or six bottles of beer).

Illegal—over 15 per cent of alcohol in the blood.

That's what the law says. What does science say?

Tests were conducted at the Medical School of the University of Washington, in Seattle, with electrically controlled driving apparatus and drivers scientifically primed with martinis, Manhattans or straight whiskey.

Their ability to drive showed a measurable sag when the blood alcohol reached only .03 per cent (one to two drinks). When the blood alcohol reached .10 per cent (four drinks) ability fell to 85 per cent of normal. When it finally reached the legal limit of 15 per cent alcohol in the blood, driving ability fell to 70 per cent.

Drs. T. A. Loomis and T. C. West concluded: "The results of the present study indicate that blood alcohol levels below 15 per cent induce measurable objective impairment of the functions tested in the simulated driving test. All the subjects showed some impairment of function at blood alcohol concentrations of .05 per cent. Current law is thus too lenient since impairment of function is present before the legal limit of blood alcohol concentration is reached.

"If the intention of such law is to enable legal action to be taken when impairment of function is present, then .05 per cent alcohol in the blood (now regarded legally as 'safe') should be considered as the base level at which a person is under the influence of alcohol for the purpose of driving an automobile."

railroad tracks and bus depot to Lincoln; then one-way south on Lincoln from Third to Francisco boulevard; finally, one-way eastbound on Third past the municipal parking lot to the underpass.

This provides a complete one-way circle from the underpass, north on Irwin, left on Third, left on Lincoln, and left on Francisco back to the underpass.

STREET SWITCH

Tamalpais avenue on the east side of the railroad tracks, which is now one-way northbound, will be switched to one-way southbound from Mission avenue to Third. This allows cars to go south on Tamalpais and turn right to reach the bus depot.

Along with the one-way circle will be a no-parking rule from 4 to 6 p.m. on the east side of Irwin street from the underpass to Belle avenue, and on the south side of Third street from Irwin street eastward past United Markets.

These recommendations will go to the city council for approval at its next meeting, set for Jan. 5.

TRAFFIC ON 101

The committee also urged that northbound traffic on Highway 101, which is headed for Loch Lomond area to the east, should avoid turning on Irwin street. Drivers should continue north on the overpass and turn to the right at the Belle avenue offramp. Cars can thus avoid the Irwin street congestion that now backs traffic onto Highway 101. Belle offramp is very effective but little used. Public Works Supt. Norris Rawles declared.

The parking committee adopted the one-way circle plan unanimously on a motion by Ray Trenchard and a second by Kenneth McKenzie.

The committee members decided that the Irwin underpass congestion should be solved first, and other proposals, including one-way traffic for Second street or Fifth avenue, should be taken up in the second phase. These will be discussed at the next meeting of the committee, set for 8 a.m. Jan. 8.

SUPERVISORS SUM UP 1958 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Reappraisal, Civic Center Progress, Marin City Redevelopment Top List

Four of Marin's five supervisors reviewed the year 1958 in terms of county accomplishments on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program today.

Completion of the reappraisal program, progress toward a civic center and the nearing reality of Marin City redevelopment topped their list.

The program will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Appearing on the program were Supervisors Walter R. Castro, Vera Schultz, James A. Marshall and William A. Gnos. Supervisor William D. Fusselman did not participate.

Castro opened the discussion by listing these accomplishments of the supervisors during 1958:

1. "The civic center is now becoming a reality" . . . The first earth should be moved on the fairgrounds site within six months . . . "The genius of Frank Lloyd Wright (who planned the center) has been accepted by the Marin community" . . . Wright's plans have received acclaim everywhere they have been exhibited.

2. A contract with San Rafael General Hospital has been approved for care of the county's indigent medical patients.

3. Plans have been drawn for a fire department substation on Mt. Tamalpais and steps taken for several others.

4. A safety commission has been established and has won a second-place award among counties of California.

Mrs. Schultz stressed two accomplishments which she declared are of greatest importance to the county:

1. "Positive advancement toward Marin City redevelopment at last." She noted that contracts have been awarded for both the low-rent and low-cost developments at Marin City, and called this "an answer to those who claimed Marin City redevelopment was a dream impossible of realization."

2. A long-range capital improvements program to meet the county's building needs over a 10-year period through a balanced program of financing which would utilize "pay as you go" bonds and borrowing from such sources as county retirement funds.

The program must undergo some revisions, she conceded, since a bond issue for improvement of the hospital-farm and juvenile hall in Lucas Valley was defeated at the polls in November.

Marshall said completion of the four-year property reappraisal program was the outstanding achievement of the year. He listed all the steps required to bring it about and lauded the program as giving the public "for the first time, fair and equitable treatment" in tax appraisals.

Marshall pointed, too, to the fact that Marin's supervisors, alone among those of Bay Area counties, have held the line against a county tax rate increase for three years.

Among lesser accomplishments, he listed the work-furlough plan being operated for county jail inmates, steps toward "performance budgeting" and construction of a $35,000 boat launching ramp at Nick's Cove on Tomales Bay with state fund aid.

Gnos added these accomplishments to the list:

1. Doubling of funds for road construction and maintenance.

2. Creek clearing in the Novato area for flood control.

3. Agreements with cities and school districts for saving of money through joint purchasing at greater volume.

4. Solution to the county's garbage problem by authorizing a dump at Burdell in North Marin, well away from residential areas, and through establishment of a county-operated dump in Larkspur.

The program's question and answer period was devoted mostly to plans for meeting the need for hospital facilities in Lucas Valley. No new information was developed.

One question, addressed to Marshall, enlivened the session: "Were you honest with yourself in voting against the (Safeway Stores) Novato shopping center, or did you vote to get your colleague, Mr. Gnos, off the hook?"

There was no question of getting anybody off any hook involved in his vote, Marshall declared. "I listened to all the arguments and felt it would have been bad planning" to allow the center to be developed on too small a site, the West Marin supervisor said.

Scout Troop Outing

Yule Business Pretty Good, But No Boom

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK (P)—"Christmas business will equal last year and may be a little better. But it's not running away."

This cautiously phrased comment from M. E. Arnett, vice president of Bullock's Department Store in Los Angeles, typifies the attitude of hundreds of retailers across the country interviewed by the Associated Press in a survey of Christmas business prospects. Most are confident of beating last year's record totals (thanks in part to slightly higher prices and an extra shopping day). But few see anything that resembles a real boom.

"There's more cash in town this year," says Charles E. Boyd of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, "but people aren't spending the money."

Brightest spot on the 1958 Christmas retail scene is Texas.

"There's no doubt but that the buying public has the money and a disposition to spend it," declares a merchant in Fort Worth. "To say business is good is putting it mildly, for if it gets any better it will be terrific."

And an Abilene, Tex. store official states: "If it was any better I don't know what I'd do."

Christmas business is good in Denver. High on the list of wanted merchandise are such relatively costly items as stereophonic hi-fi sets, pianos, organs, outboard motors and boats.

But in Cleveland, Pittsburgh and New Orleans, merchants hope to match last year's sales but are not sure they will.

In the nation's biggest city, New York, the 1958 Christmas shopping outlook is a giant question mark. A newspaper deliverers' strike robbed New York stores of their major sales promotion medium right at the peak of the Christmas rush.

Big retailers say they've been doing as well or better than last year but they're comparing current business with a brutally tough 1957 period when traffic was snarled by a subway strike. Most say telephone and mail order business—which amounts to 15 per cent of total Christmas sales—is down sharply.

Store traffic held up fairly well in the early days of the newspaper blackout but declined as the strike entered its second week.

A LIVING CHRISTMAS TREE

The world's tallest Sitka spruce tree, soaring 195 feet into the Oregon sky, was added to Crown Zellerbach Corp.'s tree farm park this week. Highclimber Jim Hutchens removed the dead limbs, part of the necessary care to keep the 700-year-old giant healthy. Company officials estimated the big spruce contains enough wood to build six two-bedroom houses. It has been permanently protected from cutting on 184,000-acre Clatsop Tree Farm, at Seaside, Ore. Mill Valley Harbor Plan Gets Boost, Setback

Progress in Mill Valley's plans for a small craft harbor in city-owned tidelands received both an unexpected boost and a discouraging legal opinion last night at the Mill Valley City Council meeting.

City Manager A. E. Almcants, reporting on progress of title searches in the area, announced that although it is not generally known, portions of the tidelands near the city's property appear to be still vested in the State of California rather than private owners.

Delighted at the discovery, Mayor Robert D. Huber said: "Our Assemblyman (Richard D.) McCollister has informed me that he plans to introduce legislation asking that this land be deeded to Mill Valley."

Almcants said that possibly 10 acres is involved. The council instructed Almcants and City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson to pursue the matter in Sacramento with the state Tidelands Commission. Almcants was also instructed to inform McCollister of the city's interest.

On the discouraging side, Almcants announced the state Small Craft Harbors Commission was requesting the city to sign a contract covering the approved $8,000 planning loan to investigate feasibility of a harbor in the area. Terms call for 10 annual payments of $800 each, plus interest.

City Attorney Nelson, however, declared that under the state code, the council could not commit the city to payments for more than a year unless previously approved by a two-thirds vote of the people. Dr. Charles P. Guichard, member of the parks and recreation commission who has been developing the harbor plan for more than a year, asked how it was possible for other communities to obtain these funds.

Nobody had the answer, Almcants was told to find it.

NOW SANTA FIXES PARKING TICKETS

WALTHAM, Mass. (P)—Motorists who park illegally during this Christmas season will find a ticket reading: "The Waltham Police Department has tagged this car for traffic violation. However, Santa Claus has fixed this ticket for you and extends to you the city's greetings for a merry Christmas and a happy new year."

Milk A Standby

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UP)—What was good enough for the 13th century troops of Genghis Khan is good enough for people today, says the University of Vermont dairy department. The department said milk is still the best thirst-quencher and instant dry powder milk will serve well as a substitute. The department noted the soldiers of Genghis Khan had dried milk included in their field rations as far back as the 13th century.

Hub Pins Up Maps Showing City Of Future

Tangible evidence of San Anselmo's $12,000 plan for future development was affixed yesterday to the wall of the city council chamber in the form of five brightly colored maps.

Planner James M. Campbell of Menlo Park started work on the year-long project in March. The San Anselmo council, annoyed when he sends his assistants to meetings instead of coming himself, has summoned Campbell to report his progress in person at the Jan. 13 council meeting.

The five maps had attracted a group of spectators yesterday before they were all in place, said City Manager Arthur W. Brewer.

One map is a preliminary land use plan showing San Anselmo in relation to the surrounding area. Sleepy Hollow is marked for ultimate annexation. A new commercial area is shown on Sunny Hills property.

San Anselmo's 1958 population is listed as 11,245 on the planning map, with an ultimate population of 23,230. San Anselmo's taxable retail sales in 1957 were $6,854,000. Campbell estimated the ultimate taxable retail sales at $22,633,204.

There is a second blown-up version of the preliminary master plan, a sketch of the downtown business district with a street loop around San Anselmo avenue which is shown as a pedestrian walkway, a map of existing land use and a map of existing parking areas.

Dag On New Trip To Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld leaves today on a new trouble-shooting mission to the Middle East.

The purpose of his trip ostensibly was to gain a short home leave and then spend Christmas with the United Nations Emergency Force on duty in the Gaza Strip. He will fly first to Stockholm.

He will take advantage of the trip to discuss with authorities of Israel and the United Arab Republic the latest border flare-up between their two countries in the Biblical Sea of Galilee area.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK —American Telephone, steels and selected issues were strong as the stock market advanced further into record high ground late this afternoon. Turnover was active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,800,000 shares compared with 3,900,000 yesterday. Key stocks advanced fractions to more than a point for medium-priced issues. Higher-priced blue chips gained up to a dozen points.

AT&T kept more than a three-point gain after an early gain of about four. The stock was still responding to a proposed three-for-one stock split and higher dividend which sent it soaring 21 points yesterday.

Traders, conscious of other stock split possibilities, bought high-priced Rohm and Hass, up about 12, and International Business Machines, up around four.

Thiokol rose about seven while Superior Oil of California eased 10 points or so.

Construction Jobs Employing Many

There'll be plenty under the Christmas trees in homes of Marin's construction trades workers, reports at the Marin County Labor Council meeting last night indicated.

Robert Alexander of Carpenters Union Local 1710 reported only 45 men on the union's out-of-work list as of Tuesday, compared with several hundred at this time last year.

Lloyd Brooks of the Construction and General Laborers Union reported very few members of that local are out of work. A similar report came from George Scott of the Painters Union.

Straw-bedded trucks have been marshaled in the Almonte area to transport carolers of the Almonte Improvement Club on their rounds Monday evening.

Mrs. Janet Taylor, club president, said carolers will gather at the clubhouse on Wisteria way at 7 p.m. The trucks will carry the singers (adults and children) throughout the hills to serenade shut-ins and friends. Refreshments will be served around the Christmas tree at the clubhouse later in the evening.

All residents in Almonte are welcome to join the "Family Party," Mrs. Taylor said. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Eugene Churchill.

Brigham Proposes Building, Plumbing Code Amendments

Marvin W. Brigham, county public works director, proposed to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Tuesday that major amendments be made to the county's building and plumbing ordinances.

Brigham submitted a multi-paged revision for the supervisors' consideration. He said it would accomplish three things:

1. Incorporate the 1958 building and plumbing codes into the county statutes. Marin has been operating under the 1955 codes.

2. Correct errors which had been made in the preparation of the former code.

3. Correct inequities in regulations and fees.

The supervisors said they wanted to study the proposal "over the holidays" and set Jan. 6 at 3 p.m. for a public hearing.

Bakersfield Gets Relief From Booms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has ordered a shift in military jet aircraft testing to cut down the sonic boom nuisance in Bakersfield and adjacent communities.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said he was informed by general counsel Robert Dechert of the department that a 15-mile-wide test corridor running from Pismo Beach to Needles has been shifted to put its center line 50 miles from Bakersfield, instead of 20 miles.

The action resulted from protests by residents of the Bakersfield area.

The senator said the Defense Department also has established a procedure to process claims for damage attributed to sonic boom shock waves. The Navy and the Air Force, he said, have been instructed to inform local officials how claimants may seek compensation.

"This corrective action will be welcome news to the people of these Central Valley cities and towns who have been inconvenienced and upset by the booms and jolts when supersonic airplanes crack the sound barrier," Kuchel said.

Dechert assured Kuchel that low altitude supersonic tests are conducted over isolated areas in the vicinity of Edwards Air Force Base in the desert near Muroc Lake.

Tests in the flight corridor are conducted above 30,000 feet. Dechert said that whenever the nature of test flights permits, supersonic operations will commence at Mojave and extend eastward over the least populated portion of the corridor.

Any further relocation of the testing program, he said, would involve prohibitive expense in moving instrumentation and observation stations on the ground.

Missile Teams Must Keep Eye Out For Trains

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—The Air Force today explained how it expects to conduct regular missile and space vehicle launchings here while keeping a sharp eye peeled for both scheduled and unscheduled trains running through the launching area.

The fact which caused some embarrassment during the first West Coast Thor IRBM launching here Tuesday is that the Air Force admittedly "doesn't always know" the schedule for trains coming through on Southern Pacific Railroad's main line.

But, as first missile division commander Maj. Gen. David Wade pointed out, "neither does the railroad."

Passenger trains are on the railroad schedule which the missilemen must consult in order to conduct launchings. But freight trains are not and the railroad explained it is impossible to schedule them.

While explaining this matter, Air Force officers maintained a patient attitude toward jokes cracked by some newsmen who waited through delay after delay Tuesday while counting several trains which passed through the area during final countdown procedures.

When the third train appeared on the tense scene and lazily rolled past the Thor launch pad at less than half the 8,000-foot distance at which newsmen were kept, one officer slapped his head and groaned, "Oh, no!"

A newsmen cracked, "What happens now if a small dog runs out?"

The Strategic Air Command, anxious to have its first Thor firing look good, hustled newsmen to the press observation site in plenty of time for a 12:15 p.m. launch, but was unable to fire until 3:44 p.m.

Air Force spokesmen stressed that the trains played only a partial role in the numerous "holds" which delayed the firing. They said most of the postponements during the 3½-hour period were due to technical difficulties encountered in equipment or procedures—none of them serious. If a train appeared during a "technical hold," its passage added to the length of the delay, spokesmen said.

Roadblock Ruling Doesn't Worry CHP

SACRAMENTO (UP)—The California Highway Patrol will probably use a modification of highway roadblocks in an effort to guard against drunk drivers during the coming holidays despite the decision of a San Joaquin County judge that roadblocks are illegal.

Judge Robert A. Bainbridge ruled yesterday in Lodi that when police indiscriminately stop motorists to check their drivers licenses or the condition of their cars, the officers are breaking the law.

But Highway Patrol Commissioner Bernard R. Caldwell said last night that the CHP doesn't use that kind of roadblocks anyway.

Caldwell explained that his officers used a modification which he chose to call "traffic checks." In this system, the commissioner said, patrolmen stand at the side of the road and watch cars passing through.

He said officers manning a traffic check do not stop a car unless they have reason to believe the driver is operating his vehicle illegally.

Caldwell said he did not believe such practices were ruled out by Judge Bainbridge.

Let Kids Get Frustrated, Dad— That's What Makes 'Em Grow Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"For pete's sake, clear out and let me shave."

That, some say, is bad. You shouldn't treat your sweet little daughter that way. She might get a warped psyche.

But cheer up, harassed dad. Somebody's on your side.

Dr. Herman Harvey, a psychology professor at the University of Southern California, says it's perfectly okay—in fact, the thing to do—for you to see that it's the kids who are frustrated, not you.

Frustrations are what make the little monsters grow up, says Dr. Harvey. They learned by climbing obstacles, not being lifted over them.

Harvey has experimented with animals. He says animals faced with gradually increasing vexations, carefully controlled, have appeared to build up immunity.

Parents should chuck the idea, Harvey says, that life should be a bed of roses for their children.

Little Dickey needs problems of molehill size. Then when he's big Richard, he'll know how to deal with stumbling blocks the size of mountains.

Not only that, Dickey will learn as a boy that solving problems can be fun.

Which leads to one of Harvey's main points. Frustration has probably accounted for every major creative achievement since the world began, he says.

"People have wanted something, they couldn't get it, so they have sat down and figured out a way to create it."

But they learned how as kids.

Coya Accepts Defeat With No Bitterness

WASHINGTON (AP)—Coya Knutson kicked off her high-heeled pumps, put on some old comfortable flats and avowed she had no bitterness or sorrow in defeat.

A House committee had decided against investigating further her complaint that she lost her bid for re-election to Congress from Minnesota because of a malicious conspiracy.

The 45-year-old Democrat contended political foes, were behind her husband's widely publicized "Coya come home" appeal.

'YOU FEEL HURT'

"Of course you feel hurt, you know," she told a reporter who came to her office yesterday after the five-man special House committee decided unanimously "no further action is warranted" in the case.

"But I've had a lot of rough things in my life—you can't sit down and feel sorry for yourself," she said. "Sometimes the more you get kicked around the more you can do."

CONTRIBUTING CAUSE

In its report, the special committee, set up to consider election complaints and check on campaign spending, agreed that "exploitation of the family life of the Knutsons was a contributing cause of her failure of election."

But the committee said it found no direct evidence involving Langen in any conspiracy to capitalize on the Knutsons' marital woes. Langen has said he did not mention those Knutson troubles in his campaign.

But husband Andy Knutson told the committee two days ago that political opponents of his wife duped him into issuing the "Coya come home" plea.

House Fight Looms In Arkansas Vote Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hays-Alford election dispute is moving toward a possibly bitter fight that could rock the House.

A special House committee voted 3-2 yesterday to recommend that Dr. Dale Alford, Little Rock segregationist, be denied a seat pending an investigation into charges of irregularities and fraud in his election. The two "no" votes came from Southerners.

Alford, who testified he believed he was elected honestly, promised to push his case at once.

Alford entered the November election at virtually the last minute.

Running as a write-in candidate, he beat Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.), an avowed moderate on segregation, by about 1,200 votes.

The committee's Southerners, Chairman Clifford Davis

(D-Tenn.) and Robert Jones (D-Ala.), agreed the election should be investigated. But they said Alford should be seated pending the outcome of the inquiry. This, they said, would be in line with past procedure.

The Southerners were outvoted by Representatives Thomas O'Neill (D-Mass.), Kenneth Keating (R-N.Y.) and David Dennis (R-Ohio).

There also was a possibility that House Democrats might try to thrash out the matter in their caucus Jan. 6, a day before the opening day of Congress.

Alford's right to be recognized as a Democrat also has been challenged by Rep. John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.). Blatnik says that since Alford beat Hays, the Democratic nominee, in the election he should be regarded as an independent.

Glass In '59 Cars To Boost Insurance Rate

The expanse of glass in 1959 models produced by the "big three" American automobile manufacturers resulted yesterday in an increase in insurance rates.

Max S. Martin, president of the Marin Assn. of Insurance Agents, reported full coverage comprehensive insurance on 1959 models of all cars produced by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, plus the German-made Opel, will cost $3 more. The increase in $50 deductible comprehensive coverage is $1.

Rambler, Studebaker and Willys, along with all the foreign cars except Opel, are unaffected by the increase, Martin said.

The boosts became effective yesterday in California, 24 other states, Alaska and the District of Columbia. The National Automobile Underwriters Assn. said they will be imposed soon in the remaining states.

Bernard is a Teutonic name meaning "bold as a bear."

Nikemen To Host Sunny Hills Kids

Twenty youngsters from Sunny Hills, Presbyterian home for children in San Anselmo, will be "adopted" for Christmas day by men of Ft. Barry's Battery A 2nd Missile Battalion of the Army 51st Artillery.

The Sunny Hills children will have Christmas dinner and spend the afternoon as guests of the battery. They will be entertained with games, music and refreshments. Each soldier will present his buddy-for-the-day with a Christmas gift.

First Lt. James F. Henthorne made arrangements for the party with Mrs. Lois Chalfant, director of Sunny Hills, and Mrs. William J. Dillon, activities director. Capt. Roy Y. Higashi is battery commander.

RCAF Officer Visits Mt. Tam Radar Site

Vice Marshal Keith Hudson of the Royal Canadian Air Force, deputy chief of operations for the North American Air Defense Command, paid an official visit to the 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Station on Mt. Voters Pass $1 School Tax Hike

MENLO PARK—Voters in Las Lomas Elementary School District west of here Tuesday approved a $1 increase in the permissive tax rate, by vote of 1,169 to 618.

The vote permits the district board to boost the tax rate from $3.16 to $4.16 per $100 assessed valuation.

Proposals for a $600,000 bond issue and $1,750,000 of state borrowing failed to muster the necessary two-thirds.

College Faculty To Outline Disagreements On Pay Plan

The College of Marin Faculty Assn. yesterday voted to have a committee outline faculty disagreements with a pay schedule proposed at a conference Monday by the board of trustees.

About two dozen teachers attended a noon meeting of the faculty association. They voted unanimously to have William W. Howe, association president, appoint a committee to make a "bill of particulars" listing faculty differences with the pay schedule that salary committee members said was proposed at the conference.

SUGGESTED CHANGES
Lee R. Blomquist, chairman of the salary committee, said the proposal made by the board would end the cost-of-living adjustments, make yearly increases $200 rather than $175, and give proportionately higher pay for more experienced and higher trained teachers.

He said the increases would total about $11,000 annually for the college. Plans would be to re-negotiate salaries yearly, with increases being made by adding to the yearly increments on the pay schedule.

Several members indicated dissatisfaction with the amount of gain for the faculty, pointing out that the board "couldn't even consider" the faculty proposal of a new schedule with increments of $300 both for experience and degrees, which would have brought a salary range from $5,000 minimum to $9,800 maximum per year.

COST OFFSET
Blomquist pointed out that the $11,000 the board's proposal would cost will be more than offset by an expected increase in district revenues this year of $75,022.

The move to have a committee review the proposed schedule came after withdrawal of a motion to disregard the whole proposal.

Two members of the salary committee, Stephen C. Bruff and T. Howell Breece, said they were disappointed in the negotiations with the board and wished to resign.

Rifle Range Not Included In Plans For Grading

Southern Marin Recreation Center directors have decided to go ahead with plans for grading near the main building, but not in the area proposed for the controversial rifle range.

Mrs. Thomas Stanton, planning commission chairman, said grading is expected to start when apartment construction begins on adjacent property. "Any changes in the future facilities plan would have to be made now," she declared.

President George McKegney said the center membership would have to be polled before a rifle range was included in the plans. Mrs. Stanton said landscape architect Robert Royston reported there was not sufficient land on the north side of the road for the range and it should not be placed in the "quiet area" near the swimming pool.

Rapist-Slayer Of 3 Must Die For 'Revolting Crimes'

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "Some crimes are so revolting there is only one penalty—the death penalty," said Superior Court Judge John A. Hewicker.

"I've never heard anything like this case—and I hope I won't again," he added.

Before him stood Harvey Glatman, 31, a Los Angeles television repairman who had confessed luring three young women into remote areas to take photographs, then raping and slowly strangling them.

"The torment and the suffering those girls underwent," said Hewicker, "must have been horrible. I will impose the death penalty as the only proper judgment."

Glatman later told reporters: "It was about what I wanted."

In a tape-recorded confession presented at the trial, Glatman said his motive for dating the women was sexual. He said he would not have killed them had they cooperated. After raping them, he killed them so they couldn't tell police.

Glatman's photos of his victims — showing them bound and gagged before death—were entered as evidence and released to newsmen.

Glatman said he persuaded all three victims at gunpoint to be tied up for crime magazine pictures.

He was ordered to die for the murders in San Diego County of Mrs. Shirley Ann Bridgeford, 24, a Sun Valley divorcee, and Miss Ruth Mercado, 24, a Los Angeles model. He was not tried for the slaying of Hollywood model Judy Dull, 19. The murder took place in neighboring Riverside County.

Under state law, the sentence will be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Extra Help

NEW YORK (UPI) — Since all seven of his employees were already at work, metalsmith Robert Kerner was surprised to hear someone punch the time-clock. It turned out to be Susie, a monkey who had left home, a nearby grocery store.

FOURTH VICTIM — Glatman took this picture of bound and gagged Judy Dull in his apartment. Glatman confessed killing her, but was not tried for this slaying before San Diego court since it took place in Riverside County. (AP Wirephoto)

S.F. Driver Cleared Of Manslaughter

Edward R. Mudrick, 36, of San Francisco was freed yesterday of a manslaughter charge in the auto accident death of a woman passenger in Fairfax last Nov. 26.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court ordered the charge dismissed on recommendation of Asst. Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety. There was insufficient evidence to show that Mudrick had committed any wrongdoing, Garety said. One disinterested witness said the man was not driving at high speed at the time the car crashed into a utility pole, Garety pointed out.

Mrs. Phyllis Smith, 35, of Larkspur was fatally hurt in the collision. The driver and several other passengers were hurt.

Bus Station Site Urged For Mill Valley Library

The site now occupied by Mill Valley's Greyhound bus station was suggested last night as a location for a new city library.

The suggestion came in a letter to the Mill Valley City Council from Robert Jenkins, president of the library board. The council, however, took no action on the proposal.

Western Greyhound Lines uses the terminal under lease from the city. At a previous council meeting, some objections were heard to the low rental which the city charges the bus line.

Mayor Robert D. Huber named Lew Tyrrell and Mrs. George Gustafson to succeed themselves on the city planning commission. Both had been filling out unexpired terms.

Huber also asked Mrs. Kent Seymour to the Architectural Advisory Committee as a representative of the Outdoor Art Club, succeeding Mrs. Richard Bennett, resigned.

Still under consideration is a replacement for Robert C. Coolidge on the same board. Nominees include Robert Royston, Jane A. Duncombe and R. C. Mountjoy.

In other business, the Mill Valley council:

1. Introduced a lengthy amendment to the zoning ordinance.

2. Adopted a resolution of intention to proceed with the improvement of Bolsa avenue between Oakdale and Hillside under a voluntary assessment district, with a public hearing set for Feb. 4.

3. Upheld a recommendation of the planning commission denying Tamalpais Motors commercial use of a lot on East Blithedale avenue and ordered its use stopped in March when an existing lease expires.

4. Passed unanimously revisions to the business license ordinance imposing a penalty for delinquent payment.

5. Denied a request by builder George Baker for a reduction in sewer connection charges for apartments he has under construction on Miller avenue.

6. Authorized purchase of a new Chevrolet for the police department from Herb's Chevrolet for $1,150 plus a police car trade-in.

7. At suggestion of Councilman Peter H. Behr, instructed City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson to take legal action against all "outstanding" violators of the city's sign ordinance as of Jan. 10.

8. Received from the county a quit claim deed on property underlying the old Blithedale trestle.

9. Declined to give Herb Shapiro a quit claim deed for a drainage easement on outer Miller avenue, pending a study by the city attorney.

10. Also referred to Nelson a study of the city's contract with golf professional Malcolm Brown as it may involve some possessory interest.

Pope John Places Red Hats On Heads Of 20 Cardinals

Prelates Receive Insignia Of Rank In Solemn Rites

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Amid glittering medieval pageantry, Pope John XXIII today placed the red hats of their high office over the heads of 20 of the 23 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church.

More than 35,000 cheering persons filled the vast Basilica of St. Peter for the public consistory, the climactic event in the ceremonies this week which have increased the College of Cardinals to 74 men, largest in history.

NINE-FOOT TRAINS

The new cardinals approached the papal throne singly, hands folded in prayer. Their bright scarlet trains trailed nine feet behind across the green velvet carpet.

Tenth in order was one of the two new American cardinals, Archbishop Richard James Cushing of Boston. The other, Archbishop John O'Hara of Philadelphia, was 13th.

Each of the new princes of the church knelt quickly, kissed the Pope's slipper and then his hand. Each time the pontiff bent low to touch cheeks with the new member of the Sacred College.

REPEATS CHARGE

Then for each, Pope John repeated this solemn charge in Latin:

"For the praise of Almighty God and the honor of the Holy Apostolic See, receive the red hat, the special badge of a cardinal's rank. By this you are to understand that you must show yourself fearless, even to the shedding of your blood, in making our holy faith respected, in securing peace for Christian people, and in promoting the welfare of the Roman Church. In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

While the pope spoke, two assistants held one of the broad-brimmed, flat-topped hats—the galero—over the head of the new cardinal.

QUICK CEREMONY

The ceremony proceeded quickly, lasting about a minute for each cardinal. The vast throng was hushed and the pontiff's strong voice rang through the basilica.

Each cardinal moved away without his red hat. The will be delivered later in the day and will never again appear in public until the owners are dead.

After the ceremony of the red hat, Pope John gave his blessing to the cardinals and to the thousands in the basilica, then was borne out on his portable throne.

The new cardinals returned to the basilica altar, before the empty pontifical throne, for the final ceremony.

PROSTRATE SELVES

They prostrated themselves before the altar and prayed while the Sistine Choir sang a verse of the Te Deum (Hymn of Thanks).

Then, in the last act of the public ceremony, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, the dean of the college, recited a prayer over the still prostrate prelates.

All the cardinals then filed out to a concluding secret consistory with Pope John.

Walnut Creek Fire Kills 2 Children

The victims were Lindsay Robin Flum, 2, and her sister, Kimber Lee, 7.

Nation's Crop Production At All-Time High

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. crop production this year reached an all-time high—11 per cent larger than the previous year.

Reporting this in its final crop estimate for the year, the Agriculture Department said high yields per acre were mainly responsible, as the harvested acreage was the third lowest in more than 20 years.

All crop production was estimated at 118 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This compared with the previous high 106 per cent first set in 1948 and matched in 1956 and 1957.

The department said weather generally seemed to be working for farmers throughout the entire cycle from before seeding time until after harvest.

This was the biggest production year of record for wheat, corn, soybeans, barley, sorghum grain, hay, popcorn and tung nuts. Large to near-record crops of oats, peanuts, potatoes, sugar beets, dry beans, apples, peaches and pecans were raised.

Slaying Of St. Louis Student Baffles Police

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A St. Louis University student, run over by a car and apparently shot three times, was found dying last night in a case that has police baffled.

The student, James S. Bullock, 27, of suburban Richmond Heights, died without speaking. Passing motorists found him sprawled in a road in front of the City Art Museum.

Police were almost certain two head wounds were from a small caliber weapon and that half a dozen tiny wounds in the chest were from shotgun pellets, but were awaiting results of an autopsy.

A car had passed over both legs.

Police Sgt. Edward Schaaf said, "We have no definite leads."

Robbery was ruled out as a possible motive. Police found $20 in his pockets.

Wave Sweeps Coast Guard Man To Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—One Coast Guardsman was swept to his death and 11 others were injured yesterday when a "single tremendous wave" washed over the cutter Gresham in mid-Pacific.

Coast Guard authorities here said five of the injured men were in serious condition. They said the body of the man washed overboard was not recovered.

Names of the men were withheld pending notification of kin.

The accident occurred at Station Romeo, 2,400 miles west of San Francisco and about halfway between Hawaii and the Aleutian Islands.

The Gresham, from Alameda, had arrived to relieve the cutter Klamath, from Seattle, Wash. The wave struck her while mail was being passed between the vessels. Other waves had been running about 19 feet high.

The Gresham was ordered to continue to Midway Island with the injured men, while the Klamath remained on station.

Santa Ana Is Ill Wind That Blows No Good

By DICK BIESER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some call it the devil wind. It's like a breath of hell at its worst — hot and dry — right off the desert.

But most people in Southern California will get the idea faster if you just say, "Santa Ana."

Sometimes pronounced "santana," the term is as murky in origin as the skies are when one gets going.

AN ILL WIND

The Santa Ana is strictly an ill wind, a no-good blowhard, an evil omen.

At best it means toppled trees and nasty dust clouds. At worst it can whip an ordinary brush fire into a hellish nightmare. Examples were the Malibu fires — the huge blazes earlier this month and in 1956.

Until the needling Santa Ana quieted, fire bosses made no attempt to estimate when they would win their battles.

HARMLESS START

A Santa Ana can start harmlessly enough. The signal often is just a few tumbleweeds darting across highways between Ontario and San Bernardino. But when a Santa Ana gets a full head of desert air behind it, it can whip up enough dirt to stop traffic completely on some roads.

It can break plate glass windows, snap power and telephone lines, ruin crops, even topple oil derricks.

Over the years, windbreaks, trees and new buildings have weakened the Santa Ana sting.

But these northeasterly gales that whistle over mountain ridges and down coastal valleys still are a major problem.

TIME OF DREAD

While they know no special season, traditionally they are dreaded most at this time of year.

A true Santa Ana seems to gather force as it travels, picking up new energy as it gushes through each of the multiplicity of canyons that puncture the Southern California landscape.

But they aren't unique. The Weather Bureau says this kind of wind is known internationally as foehn — a name derived from the warm, dry winds flowing down the slopes of the Alps in Europe.

Elsewhere such local names as chinook, khamsin, mistral and bora are applied.

BAD PUBLICITY

According to the Weather Bureau, the contraction "santana" came about largely because residents of the city of Santa Ana felt the winds were giving their community undesirable and unjustified publicity.

"As a result," says a forecaster, "the term santana was coined and various supposedly historical sources for the shortened name were quoted. We have been unable to find any true historical support for the short form."

GEOGRAPHICAL CLUE

Most likely explanation, and the one endorsed by the Weather Bureau, is purely geographical. The meteorologists believe the term originated in the late 1800's in association with the Santa Ana River Valley. The valley is the funnel for coast-bound air from the Cajon and San Geronimo passes.

Brisk winds travel through other valleys, too, and the term Santa Ana is used hereabouts for any dry wind blowing toward the coast between Ventura and San Diego.

3 DAYS, 3 NIGHTS

Old timers say a Santa Ana generally lasts three days and nights. But not always. They regard sunrise and sunset as telltale hours. A noticeable calm at those hours indicates a Santa Ana's fury is about spent. The opposite means the onslaught will continue.

Meteorologists say the Santa Ana develops when the usual pattern of barometric pressure areas is disrupted by a buildup of an intense high pressure area over the interior. At the same time, a trough of low pressure is formed near the coast. The mass from the interior suddenly breaks through the frontal barrier separating the two systems. Then you've got a Santa Ana.

TV Crews Film Quentin Scenes

Television crews from station KRON-TV, San Francisco, were shooting film sequences at San Quentin Prison yesterday for a forthcoming documentary on capital punishment.

Cameramen were filming scenes in the north cellblock area and the gas chamber, Associate Warden Louis Nelson reported. He said a number of inmates and employees were being interviewed for the documentary. Preparation of the filmed program will continue through tomorrow.

Yule Contest Deadline Extended

Registration deadline for the Little Reed Property Owners Assn. Christmas lighting contest has been extended to tomorrow, sign-up chairman Mrs. Douglas Scott announced today.

"All association members planning to enter the contest must register to be eligible for awards," Mrs. Scott emphasized. "Judges must have names and addresses of entrants for judging on Monday from 8 to 10 p.m."

Residents of Hilary Drive, Mar Vista Court, Hawthorn Drive, Little Reed Park, Del Mar Estates and Tiburon boulevard are eligible to enter the contest.

Judges will be Rolf Beere and Daniel Bonfigli, advertising men, and Walter Conner, artist.

Army Enlistees Due Advance Leave

Anyone enlisting or reenlisting in the Army during the last two weeks of December may be granted advanced leave in order to avoid having to travel or report for duty during the holiday season. Under this plan, the enlistee begins earning pay and other benefits but does not have to report for duty until after Jan. 1.

All Army recruiting stations in northern California will be open each weekday evening until 9:30 p.m. and each Saturday until 5 p.m. The Army recruiting service is temporarily without an office in Marin County. Nearest recruiting office is at 5820 Geary boulevard in San Francisco.

Old Cemetery To Undergo Improvement

Plans to improve and expand the 65-year-old Fernwood Cemetery at the entrance to Tennessee Valley were disclosed today.

George L. Kowski, president of the Sausalito Cemetery Assn., which owns the burial ground, announced Cecil W. Myers of Vallejo and Leo H. Appel of Sacramento will be in charge of the improvement program. Myers is connected with Abbey of the Chimes in Vallejo, and Appel with Sunset Lawn Memorial Park in Sacramento.

Engineering work will be done by Edward P. Schwafel and Co. of Vallejo, said Kowski.

Founded in 1892, Fernwood cemetery has been largely neglected in the past 20 years. First endeavor of Myers and Appel "will be to clean up the old burial section, improve roadways, install a new water system and plant the areas in lawn," Kowski reported.

He said an immediate survey of the property and reconstruction of ownership records must be undertaken.

Kowski also announced that the entire park will be put under a trust fund care program to insure its continued maintenance. He said plans call for rapid creation of new lawn garden areas to supplement the older sections. Customary ground burial facilities as well as mausoleum crypts and cremation niches will be included.

In addition to Kowski, directors of the association include George H. Harlan Sr., Edward R. Souza and John C. Cooper of Sausalito, and Mrs. Lucretia K. Hanson, Gerald Gooch and C. I. Dowd of Mill Valley.

Stanford Buys Lodge At Tahoe

STANFORD (AP)—Fallen Leaf Lodge near the south end of Lake Tahoe has been purchased by Stanford University for a summer alumni camp.

Stanford, in making the announcement today, said the resort with 52 one to four-room cabins and a few hotel-type rooms, will be known as Stanford Sierra Camp.

It was acquired, the university said, from Mrs. Harriett Price Craven and Mrs. Frances Price Street, both Stanford graduates, for $150,000.

It was purchased by the Stanford Camp Assn., a non-profit corporation and will be independently financed and self-sustaining.

SANTA WILL STROLL IN SAN ANSELMO

Santa Claus has sent word to San Anselmo merchants that he will arrive at 10 a.m. Saturday on San Anselmo avenue to talk with children and make note of what they hope to receive for Christmas.

Santa will be on duty in downtown San Anselmo until 4 p.m. Saturday. He is expected to rest on Sunday, but will take up his station on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m.

He will also pay a visit to the children's free party sponsored by San Anselmo merchants at the Tamalpais Theater on Tuesday. Tickets to the special show may be obtained from merchants displaying placards in their store windows.

New Discipline Policy Sought

The Bolinas School District board is working on a policy to develop closer cooperation between parents and teachers in disciplinary matters, clerk Gene McDaniel reported today.

He said the decision was reached at Tuesday night's board meeting as a result of discipline problems involving Principal David Probert, but added that no specific accusation against the principal was considered at the meeting.

In formulating the policy, McDaniel said, the board is acting in cooperation with County School Supt. Richard L. Foster.

Christmas Concert Delights Audience

By MARTHA BRUCKNER

For the traditional Christmas concert, the oldest one in Marin, Clinton Lewis and his College of Marin A Cappella Choir had a delighted audience Tuesday evening in San Rafael High School auditorium.

That the group was smaller than intended (about 10 members were unable to attend the concert) did not really matter, as the singers representing the choir displayed some very good and mature voices, thanks also to the fact that some former members had joined the choir for this concert.

In any case, if there were any shortcomings in the first half of the program (as Lewis himself, as master of ceremonies, indicated), they were of no importance. They were more than made up for by the many highlights of the performance which was in the best of choir traditions. As an example of utmost delicacy, the "Cradle Song of the Shepherds" should be mentioned or, as a contrast, the vivacious and pointed presentation of the "surprise" song.

The first part of the program, dedicated to sacred music of many religions, had some wonderful moments, too, including the processional or "Hallelujah" from the composition by Tschernokoff, "Let Thy Holy Spirit."

The selection of Christmas carols in the second part of the program included American (with Pamela Wilson as a lovely soloist), Moravian, Swedish, and German carols and a Negro spiritual. None of them could have been better presented.

In "O Holy Night" by Adams, Bernice Schneider was the most applauded soloist. With a Bach arrangement and two Chopins, a young and talented pianist, Judith Paplow, took care of the instrumental solo. The careful accompanist of the choir was Jacques Risso.

After the "Recessional," the choir sang traditional Christmas carols together with the audience under the open sky.

The first person to be educated to lead a full productive life despite being both blind and deaf was Laura Bridgman, who was born in Hanover, N.H., in 1829 and attended Perkins School for the Blind near Boston.

Wife Admits She Loved Shooting Victim

BERKELEY (AP)—Madeleine Hampton says she loved Wolfgang Marx but denies having an affair with the German exchange student who was shot and killed by her husband in a University of California laboratory.

Mrs. Hampton, 29, was interviewed by university police and investigators for the district attorney yesterday.

Her husband, John, 31, was being arraigned at the time in municipal court on a murder charge. He is a research chemist.

Mrs. Hampton was quoted as saying she had asked her husband for a divorce so she could marry the 26-year-old physics student.

Marx lived in the Hampton home here after entering this country in 1955.

Hampton displayed no emotion as preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 23 on a murder charge.

State Spending Tops Income Gains 14 To 1

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Increases in the state's general fund spending outstripped income gains 14 to 1 during the first five months of the 1958-59 fiscal year.

State Controller Robert C. Kirkwood said today the general fund paid out $42,255,785 more in the July through November period than a year ago, but income rose by only $3,003,212.

Total general fund expenditures for the five months were $555,057,190, compared with revenues of $465,764,668.

Sales and users tax collections totaled $288,064,222, a drop of $4,392,283 or 1½ per cent from the same period a year ago. Also slumping were bank and corporation franchise and income taxes, liquor license fees and the private car tax.

Gains were reported in insurance, liquor, gift and personal income taxes, as well as pari-mutuel fees, interest on investments and royalties and revenues from state lands.

State land royalties, boosted by money from lease of oil-bearing tidelands, totaled three million dollars, 93½ per cent above last year. Gift taxes climbed 143 per cent.

Dry Spell Increases Yule Fire Danger

Lack of early rain has set up a particularly dangerous fire condition this Christmas season in Marin, according to Chief John Raggio of the Larkspur Fire Department.

Raggio said today that continued dry weather has greatly increased the fire hazard from dry Christmas trees and that householders should take extra caution this year to avoid disaster.

Raggio recommends that the trees which may already be dry when purchased, be kept indoors in a contained of water and thrown out as soon as the needles shake loose.

Chief John McLeran of the Kentfield Fire Department recommends all trees put up in homes be treated with a fire-retardant spray, available in many hardware stores. McLeran said he thought laws eventually will require this treatment before sale.

Procedures recommended by State Fire Marshal Joe R. Yockers include:

1. Avoiding inflammable costumes for children.
2. Making a fresh cut at 45 degrees in the base of the tree before placing in water.
3. Using only Underwriters' Laboratories approved lighting fixtures.
4. Decorating only with flame-proof materials.

Adopted Pets
Will Receive
Yule Goodies

The Marin County Humane Society started its Christmas for animals today, with each pet adopted from the shelter at 402 Third street, San Rafael, given a stocking with animal goodies.

Along with the desire to get homes for the animals at the shelter, the society wishes to advise those persons who are giving a live Christmas present that it should be known whether the pet is wanted, said Mel L. Morse, secretary-manager.

"Pets in a home can help children develop desirable character traits, kindness, thoughtfulness and generosity. But children should be taught that pets are companions—not toys," said Morse. "It is a common mistake to handle puppies or kittens too much and too roughly. If a child is allowed to abuse an animal—however innocently—the situation encourages callousness, selfishness and irresponsibility."

There are many dogs and cats at the Humane Society shelter awaiting homes, Morse said.

"Family Visitor"
That's Welcomed
In 5 Out of 7
Marin Homes!

THE INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL is the complete Marin newspaper, edited for every member of the family who can read . . . or look at the pictures. It carries international, national, state and local news, in prose and photographs . . . cartoons and a full page of comics . . . local and syndicated columns . . . editorials viewpointing our own home area.

Also vitally important, the I-J provides "news" of local department stores, shops, and professional services — in a word, advertising — which enables the Marin family to buy most efficiently and economically.

Because the I-J is a complete newspaper, 5 out of 7 Marin families (a percentage that is constantly increasing) subscribe to it and depend on it as a buying guide. It is the only medium that has everything Marin folks want in a newspaper; and that fully covers the field for advertisers.

GUARDIAN OF DEMOCRACY

Your home newspaper is more than a source of up-to-the-minute information and reading pleasure. It is also a shield against corrupt and incompetent leadership, wasteful public spending, and runaway taxes. The I-J performs this service on a local level, in the spirit of the first article of the Bill of Rights, which forbids any law "abridging the freedom of speech or of the press."

THE ABC OF ADVERTISING

"BE SURE of your audience, then go ahead," is fundamental in advertising. Persuasive copy and art cannot sell unless it is read by enough prospects. If you do business in Marin, only one medium fully meets your advertising needs. I-J average circulation for 6 months ending Sept. 30, 1958 was 25,296. This is almost all home-delivered circulation, guaranteed by regular audits of an independent organization — the Audit Bureau of Circulations. If you want to know more about your customers and prospects (our readers), ask to see a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Perkins Stops 'Baby' With Punch Or Butt?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eddie Perkins was beaming and Baby Vasquez screaming today in the aftermath of Perkins' second straight victory before the TV fight cameras last night. Perkins, 21-year-old Chicago lightweight, stopped Vasquez on a technical knockout at 2:40 in the seventh round of their lightweight scrap at Capital Arena.

Ring physician John Kneipp called a halt after examining a blood-gushing cut next to Vasquez' left eye. "A short right did it," Perkins said.

"It was a butt," Baby snapped through a dressing room interpreter.

Pancho Rosales, the invader's manager, carried on from there.

"In Mexico," Rosales growled, "they take the fight away from him for that."

Perkins, who upset Frankie Ryff in his TV debut last month, was comfortably ahead on two of the three official cards when Referee Ray Bowen escorted Vasquez to the ropes for the eye examination.

Through six rounds Perkins led 56-49 on Bowen's card and 59-53 on Judge Julian White-stone's sheet. Judge Ben Alperstein rated the bout a 57-57 standoff at that point. The Associated Press gave Perkins a 58-55 edge.

Vasquez weighed 133½ and Perkins 133½. The fight was close until Perkins began scoring with left jabs, an occasional hook and combinations.

DeMaestri Top A.L. Defensive Player

Official fielding averages for the 1958 American League season, released today, showed Joe DeMaestri of San Anselmo, star of the Kansas City Athletics, topping the league short-stops for the second straight year.

The all-star fielding team also included Bill Skowron of New York at first base, Frank Bolling of Detroit at second, Eddie Yost of Washington third, Jim Busby of Baltimore, Al Kaline of Detroit and Roy Sievers of Washington in the outfield, Yogi Berra of New York at catcher and Bill O'Dell of Baltimore pitcher.

DeMaestri committed only 13 errors in 137 games for a .980 average, the identical mark that won him the league crown in 1957.

Total figures show the sure-handed former Tamalpais High School star made 226 putouts, 417 assists, 656 total chances and participated in 95 double plays.

Fielding averages of other leading shortstops: Rocky Bridges, Washington, .976; Luis Aparicio, Chicago, .973; Gil McDougald, New York, .969.

DeMaestri, who celebrated his 30th birthday last week, has been a major leaguer since 1951. He is player representative for the Athletics.

DeMaestri and his father, Syl, operate the DeMaestri Distributing Co. in San Rafael.

McLean Quits As Green Bay Coach

GREE NBAY, Wis. (AP)—Ray "Scooter" McLean resigned yesterday after a single season as head coach of the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Last summer McLean forecast his team had "as good a chance as any" for the league title and declared, "We're going to shoot the moon."

The launching never took place and the countdown produced only a 1-10-1 record and last place in the Western Conference. It was the poorest showing in the 40-year history of the Packers.

McLean accepted an offer to become backfield coach of the Detroit Lions under his longtime friend, George Wilson.

Fans Had Reason To Stay Away From Kezar Sunday, But They Filled It

Last Sunday more than 59,000 football fans crammed Kezar Stadium in San Francisco to see the 49ers face the Baltimore Colts.

Why? Because the public likes pro football the way it is. And evidently they like the way it is handled.

And yet, in spite of the fact that the 49ers won only five games out of eleven, the fans came in droves to hiss and cheer and yell and scream.

If ever a community had a right to "stay away" from a football game, the 49er fans did last Sunday.

To begin with, Coach Frankie Albert had thrown in the sponge. He declared he wanted no part of the pro game anymore.

The owner and principal stockholder, Vic Morabito, barred a former team player, popular Joe Arenas, from the bench, the clubhouse and the free feed after the season's last game.

MORABITO, if he was right, should never have Arenas barred.

If Joe was wrong as a three dollar bill, and entered the 49er clubhouse, the guys he offended by his articles would have kicked him in the slats.

Vic Morabito should never worry about a pro player wanting the owner to fight his battles. Pro players are not that way.

So, in the face of all these incidents (none of them really important) the fans just poured into Kezar to wave goodbye to Frankie and to see the last game of the 1958 season.

That's a pretty swell outlook for pro football's future.

AS FAR as I am concerned the only thing wrong with pro football is some of the critics who have become such rabid fans they want to hang a player who makes a mistake or costs the team a victory.

The average collegian these days is pretty lucky if he finds any kind of a job. If he is able to learn, while in school, how to block out an end, he's liable to wind up as a pro player and do alright, even if he doesn't get cuff links for a Christmas present.

But the important thing for a pro football player is that he gets to see the country, stay in the finest hotels, eat the best, meet a lot of swell guys and REALLY live, if only for a short time.

CONNOLLY

Aint that something?

It is sufficient to say that regardless of Coach Frankie Albert, the 49ers are a great bunch of athletes. There's nothing particularly obnoxious about them. They make mistakes and they make great plays and over a period of time one offsets the other.

But to blame the players because the coach hasn't given them a variety of plays is to crucify the wrong fellows.

A COACH is supposed to be an "idea" fellow. He is supposed to unravel tricky plays and fool the enemy. If he can't, then he shouldn't blame it on the cash customers who pay the freight and who are entitled to speak out loud, regardless if sons or daughters or relatives are within hearing distance.

Professional baseball players seldom reside permanently in the cities where they play regularly.

They play in San Francisco and live in Florida, New York and all over the USA. A very small percentage of them make the home club site their home town.

It is not necessary or vital that we enumerate the entire list of things a coach does wrong, excepting to say that if he has a losing team he either has to quit the club or be the butt of many a harsh critic.

And the same goes for his family.

That is one of the reasons why my Uncle Mike quit following the horses. He lost a chunk one day and said he never cared if he ever SAW a horse again.

So far he is 100 per cent right.

Iowa Arrives At Pasadena; Starts Work

PASADENA (AP)—Welcoming festivities over, the Iowa football squad took a long breath of California air today and got down to business for its Rose Bowl engagement with California.

Coach Forest Evashevski, approaching his second appearance in the big New Year's Day classic, ordered his 44-man squad onto the practice field at nearby East Los Angeles Junior College for a morning workout.

Another one was set for the afternoon, beginning a twice daily grind for the Big Ten champions.

Evashevski said practices at Iowa City were held indoors because of the severe winter weather. He seemed more delighted than worried about the other extreme here—a hot sun and 80-degree plus temperatures.

The Hawkeyes flew in yesterday aboard two chartered planes.

What does Evashevski think of the 18 points his team is favored?

"Ridiculous."

WEAK DEFENSE?

Why, asked another naive one, were so many points scored on Iowa this season. Evy's answer, half sarcastic, took two words.

"Weak defense."

There was a typical Tournament of Roses reception for the players and athletic staff at their quarters in the Sheraton Huntington Hotel.

On hand were a band, Queen Pamela Prather and her equally pretty court of six princesses and tournament officials.

Thanks for the hospitality were expressed by Iowa's president, Virgil M. Hancher, athletic director Paul W. Brechler, athletic board chairman Dr. George S. Easton and Evashevski.

President Hancher missed the Hawks' winning visit over Oregon State two years ago. Facetiously, he thanked the coach and the team for giving him another opportunity to attend.

Ray Wood, Pasadena's vice mayor, noted that there were so many lowans living here, this was virtually a homecoming game for Iowa.

California's Golden Bears, champions of the Pacific Coast Conference, are not due here until Dec. 26.

BALDACCI, HEYDENFELDT

2 Hamilton Stars Win All-Air Force Honors

This week's issue of the Air Force Times revealed the selection of Hamilton Air Force Base's hard-running halfback Lou Baldacci and the Defenders' ace pass receiver Bob Heydenfeldt to the 1958 All-Air Force football team.

Both players came to Hamilton with impressive college and pro football records.

Baldacci, a consistent ground gainer with the Defenders, was a standout performer during his college days at the University of Michigan where he attained honorable mention All-American in 1954, and played in the 1955 Blue-Gray and 1956 Senior Bowl classics. Lou then logged a season with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

This year he was the leading scorer for the Hamilton club, with a total of 48 points as a result of three touchdowns, three field goals, and 24 extra points. Assigned to the Office of Information Services at Hamilton, Lt. Baldacci is a native of Akron, O.

Heydenfeldt is a native of Pasadena, and attended college at UCLA. While at UCLA the 6-2, 190-pound end was an honorable mention All-American with the National Collegiate Championship 1954 Rose Bowl team. He then spent a season with the pro Edmonton football club in Canada where he led Western Canada in punting, and played in the Grey-Cup National Championship and East-West Canadian Pro All-Star games in 1955. This year at Hamilton he was the second leading scorer on the team with 42 points, racked up by seven touchdown passes; and averaged an amazing 43 yards per punt in 43 kicks. Bob is a jet pilot assigned to the famous 83rd Fighter Interceptor Squadron which flies F104s.

Six North Bay League basketball teams will vie for first place spot in Redwood High's first annual Christmas Basketball Tournament this weekend. Drake, Napa, San Rafael, Tam, Vallejo and host Redwood will be competing for the trophies to be awarded to the first three places.

In a drawing held last week, it was determined that Redwood and Vallejo would get byes into the second round. The Redwood game is set for 6:30.

S.R. VS. DRAKE — To conclude Friday's triple-header, San Rafael will clash with Drake at 9 p.m.

The tournament resumes Saturday afternoon with Redwood meeting the Tam-Napa winner and Vallejo playing the Drake-San Rafael winner. The games are set for 1:30 and 2:45 p.m.

The losers of those games will meet Saturday evening at 8 o'clock to determine the third and fourth finishers, with the championship game to follow at 9 o'clock.

There will be a loser's bracket, too, for the two first-round losers to determine fifth and sixth places.

Friday's games will be played in 7-minute quarters, but because of rulings for teams playing twice a day, Saturday's clashes will be cut to five-minute periods.

In addition to the team trophies,

WHILE HER BACK'S TURNED, HOUSE VANISHES

Mrs. Maria Cassera stands among scattered pieces of lumber which are all that remains of her four-room frame house in Fresno. Two unidentified men tore it down and hauled it away, unbeknownst to

Mrs. Cassera, while neighbors watched, assuming she had ordered it done after she had moved to another home. Police say all Mrs. Cassera can do is find out who did it, and sue. Says Mrs. Cassera: "There ought to be a law." (AP Wirephoto)

Christian, Jewish Pupils Present Joint Program

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—Christian and Jewish students here will again have their annual lesson in tolerance today. Their lesson will stem, according to Principal Charles Loomis, from the action of the officials of the Nathan Clifford Grammar School who decided 10 years ago "we've got to have understanding" in a school where nearly half the students are Jewish.

The idea is, he said, to "let the Christian children know the Jewish children have a holiday, too." As a result, December is a busy month. First, there's Hanukkah, the Hebrew festival of lights that starts Dec. 7 and goes on for eight days. Then, there's Christmas. Mrs. Mae R. Glassford handles most of the arrangements. A Baptist mother of four, she heads the art and music programs at Nathan Clifford and at the Hebrew Day School and teaches Sunday school besides. The pageant "could be a hot seat for sure," said Mrs. Glassford. But each year it works out with adherents of one faith learning a little more about the beliefs of the other. Jewish students will present "The First Hanukkah." They'll explain with readings and music what it means to those of the Hebrew faith to remember the end of the Maccabean wars; the cleansing of the temple of the paganism of Antiochus and the "miracle of the oil" when the temple lamps burned eight days even though there wasn't enough oil to fill them for all that time. The Christian students will present their traditional Christmas tableaux with carols and "living Christmas cards," including the Nativity scene.

Solon Plans Bill To Curb Auto Smog

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Afterburners on cars? Yes, says a Southern California legislator. Either that or some other device to eliminate exhaust fumes.

Assemblyman Thomas M. Rees (D-Los Angeles) said exhaust fumes are the major cause of air pollution and we've got to do something about it.

He said yesterday he plans to introduce a bill in the 1959 Legislature requiring an exhaust-killing device to be attached to cars.

Rees said he thinks Detroit auto manufacturers have such a device, but "will say they don't have one."

Rees said his bill also would empower the state Department of Public Health to act on a statewide basis against smog.

He said he thinks the Los Angeles Air Pollution Control District is doing a good job,

Rail Removal Pends Tam District Action

Mill Valley city councilmen last night balked at a proposal to put up $1,000 toward removal of abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks on outer Miller avenue until the Tamalpais High School District indicates its position.

The rails, last remaining vestige of rail service into Mill Valley, are on a 60-foot right of way, partly in the city and partly in the county, paralleling the high school's athletic field. The county has agreed to contribute $1,000 toward their removal.

NWP officials have offered to remove the rails for $2,000 and abandon any claim to the strip, but noted that the high school district holds reversionary rights to the strip.

City Manager A. E. Almcraut told the council that the high school district had "pleaded poverty," could not participate in the cost of rail removal and declined a commitment on whether it would require any or all of the property.

He said he felt assured that the high school trustees "would do the right thing."

The council didn't agree, however.

Mayor Robert D. Huber appointed Councilmen Joseph E. Sheeks and Peter H. Behr and City Atty. Thomas C. Nelson to meet with high school trustees at a special meeting to "achieve an understanding" before spending any money for removal of the rails.

In another city land matter, the council instructed Nelson to proceed with eminent domain proceedings against the Marin Municipal Water District for acquisition of land adjacent to the city hall, to be used for offstreet parking and possible city hall expansion.

Yule Arrangements Program At Officers' Wives Luncheon

A holiday atmosphere was created at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers' Wives Club recent luncheon for the entertaining and informative talk and demonstration by Mrs. Robert Tucky of Marin.

Decorations of snow flakes and snow branches was the decor for Mrs. Tucky who showed her audience how to use nature provided growth found in Marin for decoration. Working rapidly and with ease Mrs. Tucky showed that the thorny teasel makes clever miniature Christmas trees for tables; black bamboo stalks, aspidistra leaves, cotton and oak balls, Scotch broom, pine cones, berries, avocado seeds, canola leaves and Indian corn, dried or fresh make attractive and beautiful home decorations. Each lending its own special effect.

Mrs. Tucky suggested that if ornament balls are desired, an attractive device for an effect is to put theatrical net over the balls after spraying them. She also said that if ribbon used in a decoration is "Not just the right color it can be altered by creating overtones with paint spray."

During the business portion of the meeting, Mrs. John R. Robinson, president, announced that the next all-day bridge session will be Jan. 29, starting at 9:30 a.m. There is an entry fee and reservations should be made by couple.

mosphere in the clubhouse were the many beautiful Christmas decorations displayed and offered for sale by the garden section, which made them.

After gifts were exchanged and secret pals revealed, refreshments were served on tables decorated in a Christmas theme, and games were played.

Mrs. William Wylie and Mrs. Joseph Zaborowski were in charge of decorations and refreshments.

Two Couples Dance For Guild Party

The entertainment for the St. Raphael's Mothers' Guild Christmas program was a living Christmas card that came to life and danced!

Under the direction of Mrs. Bari Frohlich of the Junior Cotillion, two young couples of the seventh grade danced a fox trot, cha cha and waltz in Christmas costume designed especially for the performance.

The two young ladies, Judy Kern and Terri Frohlich, were gowned in white nylon net decorated with poinsettias and showed red petticoats as they twirled and their partners, Eugene Babo and Stephen Ulrich, in red jackets and dark trousers. A crowd of 200 enthusiastically greeted the charm and finesse of the young dancers. Santa Claus, portrayed by Walter E. Benson, participated in the finale of song with the dancers.

The program began with the angelic procession of the Schola Cantorum Girls' Choir of St. Raphael's singing traditional Christmas hymns.

Mrs. Frohlich, director of the Junior Cotillion, has a fine reputation for excellence in every important detail of production.

Jolly Rogers Chapter Has Yule Party

An evening of fun was enjoyed recently by the members of the Jolly Rogers Chapter of Children's Home Society and their husbands at the chapter's annual Christmas party held at the Indian Valley Golf Club. The theme was Happy Holiday. Candles and holly adorned each table. Decorations were arranged by Mrs. Donald Leaf and Mrs. David Thompson. The evening began with a get-acquainted hour. The buffet dinner, planned by the party chairman, Mrs. Charles Johnson, was followed by a visit from Santa Claus impersonated by Earl Pennington.

Club Speaker Uses Hula Hoop In Decor Exhibit

Those attending the garden section of the Sausalito Woman's Club recently not only learned how to make use of those discarded hula hoops, but how to use old nylon stockings, pajama cords and cottage cheese cartons for Christmas decorations.

"Utilize what you have around the house," was Mrs. Richard Cruikshank's theme for her demonstration and explanation of "how to" make Christmas wreaths, garlands and swags. She explained and showed how hula hoops can be cut down to size and form the basis for Christmas wreaths made with fresh greenery; also how a rope of old nylon stockings or papa's old pajama cord can be used to attach Christmas greens for swags and garlands for Christmas decorations.

Going from the ridiculous to the sublime, Mrs. Cruikshank demonstrated how more modern decorations can be made from dried hydrangea flowerettes sprayed with touches of gold and how a sprig of magnolia sprayed red could substitute for fresh poinsettias.

Before Mrs. Merrell Sisson, garden section chairman, introduced Mrs. Cruikshank, she announced that the garden section is sponsoring a garden and flower show in April and made another reminder of the change of date of the garden section meeting from Jan. 15 to Jan. 22.

Education Films Now Available For Distribution

Two films, widely shown to special groups during American Education Week, are now available for distribution to clubs and organizations on a free loan basis.

"Endowing Our Future," a study of the critical financial problems of higher education, and "The Mayflower Story," a report on the 1957 voyage of a replica of the Pilgrim ship, both dramatically deal with important lessons from American history and present-day experience.

These films are two of hundreds made available by American industry at no charge. These movies, 16 millimeter sound motion pictures, are designed to fit into the programs of church, club, fraternal, youth, and service groups.

Requests for either of the special films, or for a complete list of educational and public service motion pictures may be forwarded to Modern Talking Picture Service, Department C, 444 Mission street, San Francisco.

HOLIDAY EVENT

Festive Decor For San Rafael Club's Party And Program

San Rafael Improvement Club's charming clubhouse was garlanded with greens for its traditional Christmas party on Tuesday afternoon. A corps of workers, under the direction of Mrs. Fedora Ross, had created the wreaths and swags for the walls and the garlands encircling the large white pillars. The greenery was accented by a large gold wreath above the stage. At one side of the room, just below the stage, was an enormous Christmas tree sparkling with ornaments. Centering the tables for the tea which followed the program were stylized gold thistle trees.

The guest artist, Le Noir Hosack, a mezzo soprano, has a rich, vibrant voice and she sings with deep intensity. Don Jones was a splendid piano accompanist. Miss Hosack's selections were delightful, and varied from the deeply religious songs of the Christmas season, to lighter and contemporary compositions. Her first number was "Dir, Dir, Jehova" by Bach. The second group included a contemporary song, "Auf Ein Altea Bild" by Hugo Wolf. Three ageless songs, Handel's "He Shall Feed His Flock," "Ave Maria," Bach-Gounod and "Cantique de Noel" by Adam, completed the group. The audience heartily applauded the folk song "No Room In The Inn" and the spiritual "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" and was pleased, too, with a contemporary composition, Ned Rorem's "Christmas Carol," the Welsh song, "Come All Ye Who Weary" and the Appalachian Mountains number, "Carol Of The Birds," in the third group.

Miss Hosack's exhibited a nice sense of humor as she sang, "Twelve Days of Christmas" which, with Randall Thompson's "Velvet Shoes" and "Bless This House," composed the concluding group.

Miss Hosack was introduced by Mrs. Lawrence A. Cowen, club president, who also expressed her appreciation to Mrs. Ross and her co-workers,

Mr. and Mrs. William Vaning, who had provided the Christmas tree, and to Mrs. Robert Allison, chairman of the tea. Mrs. Cowen announced that the club will sponsor the "Fashion Focus" luncheon at Rickie's Rancho Rafael and provide the models on Feb. 17, proceeds going to the San Rafael General Hospital.

Mrs. C. Bruce Greene, chairman of the Drama Section, announced that on Jan. 27, it will present a concert by Paul Best, an opera singer, following a hot luncheon at the clubhouse. As has been the custom for several years, members gave money to be distributed by Mrs. Herbert K. Walton, philanthropic chairman, to needy old people at Christmas.

At the tea Mesdames Herbert Brainerd and Louis L. Robinson, both past presidents, and Mrs. Edith Foran and Miss Ethel Bruce presided at the tables. On Mrs. Allison's committee were Mesdames George W. Duncan, Leslie Jones and Sydney H. Diehl.

4 Join Auxiliary At San Rafael General Hospital

Four new members are being welcomed by the Women's Auxiliary of San Rafael General Hospital, according to an announcement by Mrs. Lawrence P. McNear, president.

The new volunteers are Mesdames Clifford Monk, Leslie Turner and A. G. Sommerville of San Rafael and Charles H. Evans of Kentfield.

The Auxiliary has a new treasurer, Mrs. Frederick Enemark, who replaces Mrs. T. W. Beyer, who resigned. Mrs. C. Bruce Greene has been named historian and Mrs. E. M. Witzel has been appointed recorder of service hours. She is also secretary.

Mrs. McNear also announced that the supply of books for the Auxiliary's book cart has been considerably augmented by a gift from Mrs. Alfred W. Berney of Bret Harte Heights. Mrs. Berney recently delivered to the hospital four big boxes of books, including best-selling novels, history, tales of exploration, and humor.

Current plans of the Auxiliary include helping with pre-Christmas parties for employees of the hospital, and decorating for the holidays. Mrs. J. A. Wruburton, decorations chairman, and her committee members, Mrs. Witzel and Mrs. W. E. Ball, are planning Christmas trees and decorative arrangements for the dining room, halls, waiting room, and wards.

The Auxiliary's next meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m., Monday, Dec. 22.

MR. AND MRS. W. Thomas Kirwin of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to David Lynn Danner, son of Mrs. Violet Danner of San Jose and the late Edward Danner. A summer wedding is being planned.

Firearms Ordinance Discussed By Club

Promotion of a county ordinance to prevent the carrying of firearms by children unless accompanied by adults, and legislation preventing the sale of ammunition to minors was urged as a project for the children's activities committee by the board of the Reed District Parent-Teachers Club at a meeting held recently.

The Board agreed to the distribution of safety materials to students in the four district schools but turned down a proposal by the committee for the Club to sponsor a four-hour hunter safety training program.

At the request of Mrs. George McKegney, Reed Unit Library chairman, the Board voted to recommend to the membership the establishment of a library committee as a standing committee of the board. Such a committee would give assistance to the district in maintaining unity and continuity in the schools libraries until such time as the schools are able to assume full responsibility.

Mrs. Carl Lanus, club representative to the Salvage Shop

Governing Board requested approval of two proposed by-law amendments for the shop which will also be presented to the other four participating members. The Board gave the go-ahead to a proposal that any member of the shop governing board who misses three consecutive meetings would be dropped from the board and also to a proposal prohibiting sale of merchandise such as rummage or antiques by member organizations.

Three appointments were made, Mrs. Edwin Drechsel was made sales chairman for "Shark Point, High Point," a book about the Tiburon peninsula written by the Reed school eighth graders, and John Runnels and Philip Wolfe were appointed institutional representatives from Cub packs 71 and 9 respectively.

Hospital Groups Have Yule Parties

A series of three pre-Christmas social events for employees of San Rafael General Hospital was concluded Monday.

Recently, the nurses, aides and maids at the hospital had their annual Christmas party, with Mrs. Jean Casarotti as chairman.

Sunday afternoon, the new superintendent of nurses, Mrs. Estelle A. McCall, was introduced at a tea arranged by the Auxiliary. Mrs. Leiton J. Elder was in charge of arrangements, and was assisted by Mrs. Lawrence McNear, Mrs. Eldred Hillis, Mrs. J. A. Wruburton, Mrs. Roy Powers and Mrs. Neel Johnston.

Monday was the date of the traditional Christmas party given by the hospital, laboratory and X-ray department for all employees, as well as doctors on the staff. This year's affair included the trustees and Auxiliary members, new since last Christmas.

Students' Book Now On Sale In Tiburon

"Shark Point, High Point," which was written by eighth graders of the Reed School and is a history of the Tiburon Peninsula, is currently on sale in various stores on the Peninsula according to Mrs. Edwin Drechsel who was recently appointed sales chairman by the Reed District Parent-Teachers Club.

The book, which is now in its third edition, will be available until Christmas at Leonard Linn's, Annettes, Berry's and Fashion Alley on Tiburon's Main street and at the Tiburon Turntable on the Boardwalk. Over the weekend a booth will be staffed at Brice Bros. at Bel Aire from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The book is also being sold at the various unit meetings of the Reed District Parent-Teachers Club.

In addition to the book, a map of the Tiburon Peninsula with historical references is also available. The map is a large reproduction of one in the book.

Mrs. Drechsel warns that the copies are limited of both the book and the map and those interested should purchase them now as it is very likely the price will be raised following Christmas.

Parties To Precede New Year's Eve Ball In Sausalito

Not one, not two, but three no-host cocktail parties will precede the Sausalito Woman's Club New Year's Eve Ball. All three will be held in the clubhouse starting at 7:30 o'clock preceding the roast beef dinner which is being prepared by Hamie's of San Rafael and will be served at 9 p.m.

Bill Lynch, Ron Mackenzie and Mike Quinn will be the hosts and bartenders for the three respective BYOB affairs that will be held in three different corners of the clubhouse and will feature special canapes executed by Mrs. S. C. Stapp and Mrs. Richard Phillips.

Mrs. Stapp is general chairman of the ball. Helping Mrs. Stapp with arrangements are Mr. and Mrs. Phillips who will do the decor; Mrs. William Erskine will be in charge of the table arrangements and hosts and hostesses will be the John Alexanders and the Phillips.

Invitations have been mailed and Mrs. John Koenig Jr., reservations chairman urges that early reservations be made so that members will be assured of places for themselves and guests as the list will be closed as soon as the limited capacity of the clubhouse is reached.

50 March Of Dimes Chairmen Attend Dinner At Sabella's

Fifty Marinites who are spearheading this year's March of Dimes drive attended a kick-off dinner at Sabella's recently.

They were addressed by B. O. Wilson of Martinez, Contra Costa County Superintendent of Schools and California State Representative for the March of Dimes, on "Three Faces of Crippling—Our New Program." He explained the National Foundation's reasons for expanding its field to research and patient aid on rheumatoid arthritis and congenital birth defects, as well as the continuing effort against the scourge of polio which he indicated very positively "is not yet licked by any means."

Wilson's theme was carried out by the showing of "The Challenge," a film produced by the National Foundation, which demonstrates the effects and treatment of these three crippling diseases. Miss Angela Sabella, Marin County March of Dimes Chairman, announced that the film would be available to organizations or groups; requests can be made by phoning her. She introduced Mrs. Vern Denson, Marin chapter chairman, Mrs. Melvin Hammond, Marin patient aid chairman, and Jack Major of Sacramento, state representative for the National Foundation. Major complimented Marin on its past efforts on behalf of the March of Dimes and on the large attendance at the kick-off dinner.

Miss Sabella introduced her co-chairman, Mrs. Paul Nederman Jr. of San Rafael, treasurer; Harold Knobbe of San Rafael, Mothers' March chairman; Mrs. William Amans of Terra Linda, teen-age program chairman; Mrs. R. E. Goldman of San Anselmo, coffee day chairman; Miss Jan Wilbur of San Rafael, publicity chairman, Gerd Stern of Waldo.

The chairmen for each community include A. C. Pfeffercorn of Bolinas; Mrs. Oliver G. Wassell of Black Point; Edward Fuselli of Fairfax; Mrs. T. N. Hansen of Greenbrae; Sgt. and Mrs. William Dalton of Ignacio and Hamilton Field; Mr.

and Mrs. Richard Belloza of Inverness; Mr. and Mrs. John Bessinger of Kentfield; Oakley Dexter of Larkspur; Mrs. Doris Rochelle of Marin City; Nick Kobseff of Nicasio; Paul Terry of Novato; Mr. and Mrs. James Alberigi of Pt. Reyes; Mrs. Jean Keller of Ross; Charles Pierce of San Anselmo; John Verzi of San Geronimo; Lieut. S. Knickelbein of San Quentin; Mrs. Betty Taylor of Santa Venetia; Mrs. Willard Hall and Mrs. Charles Cross of Sausalito; Mr. and Mrs. Hank Lacaze of Stinson Beach; Mrs. Melvin Hammond of Terra Linda; Mrs. Lynn Roberts of Rafael Meadows; Mrs. Lila Heffner and Mrs. Virginia Trulson of Mill Valley, and Dom "Monty" Mondino of Tiburon-Belvedere.

Chairmen are still need for San Rafael, Corte Madera and Tomales. Those who would like to volunteer for March of Dimes work can contact Miss Sabella, or for the Mothers' March, contact Mrs. Amans.

The actual drive will begin Jan. 2, 1959.

are B. O. Wilson, state representative for the March of Dimes, who spoke at the dinner, and Mrs. R. E. Goldman of San Anselmo, Marin's teen-age program chairman.

AT RICKEY'S

The Contemporary Christmas Theme Of Fashion Luncheon

The fresh sparkle of a contemporary Christmas, the third in Rickey's series of gay Yuletide luncheons, delighted the Tuesday "Fashion Focus" guests who were reminded of some magic ingredients for a happy "Holiday at Home."

For everyone, the indispensable Christmas ingredient, good will to men. For the youthful, hard working Tom Thumb Chapter of the Children's Home Society, Rickey's honored holiday group, good will extends throughout the year as they assist and raise funds for the Children's Home Society with the realization at Christmas that many adopted children and their parents are happier because of the Society's efforts.

For a dash of spice, every "holiday at home" needs the magic of bright, colorful fashions. On Tuesday, the brightest and gayest of the season from the far corners of the world, Hong Kong, Hawaii, Saigon, Calcutta, were gathered by Tiki's of Sausalito's Village Fair to make women of all ages glamorous and elegant.

Even the most dazzling outfit is lovelier when a small child says "That's pretty, Mommie," so ingredient No. 3 for the happy holiday was a "merry Christmas child" supplied for the fashion show by the small son or daughter of Tom Thumb members showing beguiling custom made and imported creations from Village Fair's Littlest Angel.

The Town House Beauty Salons added to the Yuletide prescription with "one special Christmas hair style to assure a holiday beauty."

So for the happiest holidays at home, take a heart full of good will, a merry Christmas child, one bright, well-planned wardrobe, and a happy halo of hair, mix well and add a "cheerful Christmas disposition." This is sometimes hard to come by in the overwhelming rush of never ending activity, but easy to achieve for those who go up the steps to enchantment in Sausalito's unique Village Fair overlooking the Yacht Harbor.

HOLIDAY LIFE

The bewitching spirit of the Village Fair came to holiday life on Tuesday. Carols of the Robert Shaw Chorale from the Village Fair record shop echoed through the Garden and Terrace Rooms. The guests munched on tidbits of tantalizing toffee from the Sugar and Spice Shop. Jingling bells from Ilse Weiner, whose handcrafts from Europe are unique, announced the start of the fashion show. A multicolored cock, a pinata from Village Fair's "La Pinta" conjured thoughts of a Mexican Christmas.

To unwrap on Christmas morning, the usual and unusual in candles from "The Candlestick," a contemporary painting from the Marin Art Gallery; from Kenart's "House of Portugal," a saucy ceramic cat or from Kathleen Dowd a Christmas green suede jacket.

"For a bright contemporary Christmas, with traditional holiday touches, may we suggest the contemporary Village Fair, where you avoid the traditional rushes?" was Marion Bellamy's suggestion to Christmas shoppers as she introduced the very happy "Holiday-at-Home" fashions.

"Last Minute Shopper," sugar brown wool jersey original by Marilyn Miller, the flared skirt detailed with fringe, the shopper, Mrs. Andrew Kozak and daughter, Terry, in red and white chemise cotton with red leotards.

"Christmas Neighbor," Mrs. Harry Jacobson arriving in Guatemalan handwoven pigtail skirt of navy blue with a white Marie shirt. Daughter Janice, ringing the doorbell in "Littlest Angel's" navy blue trapeze, white pique trimmed.

"Tree Trimmer," a trim example, Mrs. Walter Noll plaided in old Southerland imported tapers accented by a lime green twin sweater set. Navy blue cotton covered by a white organdy pinafore with a school house pocket was daughter Melinda's tree-trimming choice.

STOCKINGS HUNG

"Sophisticated Santa," Mrs. James Collins relaxing after the stockings are hung in Dore's black "long johns," the bodice boned and strapless; over them the elegance of a Waikiki great coat imported by Tiki's from Hong Kong. For daughter Laurie, jingle bells parading up blue denim tapers worn with a polka dot silk blouse.

"Merry Morning," with a Merry Maile mu-mum in turquoise and gold, an import from Hawaii, charmingly worn by Mrs. Victor Banks, escorting son David, in Merry Mite's two piece suit, the short pants striped and washable; the shirt white with red trim.

"Package Parade," for gift time, Mrs. Roger Graham printed in Kabuki's blue and green silk lounging tapers and blouson shirt. Daughter Janice, a bright "Littlest Angel" in red corduroy pants, with washable silk white over-apron abloom with red tulips. Son David, sporting brown Merry Mite slacks and Sunday-best shirt.

"Holiday Hostess," ready for company, Mrs. Leonard Delmas elegant in Tiki's Saigon coat of jadette green silk shantung. Her helper, daughter Cinde, in custom made corduroy pants and pink corduroy over-apron.

"Evening Elegance," for Christmas night; black wool jersey blouse, deep V'd, accenting an ankle length woven Guatemalan skirt toned in beige, white and black. Adding elegance, Mrs. Arthur Jamolsky and her Christmas-mannered companion, Benjamin Partee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Partee in Merry Mite's Christmas suit.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Traffic Safety Over Holiday Is Matter Of Life And Death

Just one week from today is Christmas.

Just two weeks from today is New Year's Day; 1959 will be here.

But will you?

That's a question each of us should carefully consider every time we step into an automobile or walk onto a street or highway.

The Christmas-New Year's holidays are a time of great joy for most people. But for many, just a few seconds carelessness or a few too many drinks can turn the holidays into misery for many.

That's the reason two state departments, the California Highway Patrol and the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control, are declaring open season on drunk drivers. Local police and the sheriff's office are following suit.

Last year 40 Californians were killed over the 30 hours of Christmas Eve and Christmas and the similar span of time over New Year's.

More than 21 per cent of all the reportable accidents in that period involved drinking drivers. And the later it got at night—or the earlier in the morning, whichever way you look at it—the higher became the percentage of drinking drivers.

Between 3 and 4 a.m. last December, 54.2 per cent of all accidents, more than half, involved drinking drivers.

This should be some sort of a warning to all of us. Not only is it necessary to be careful and not mix drinking and driving ourselves, but in addition, if we are driving late, we should be vitally concerned about the other drivers.

We remember when we were first learning to drive we were told: Always drive as though the other fellow on the road was dead drunk.

Unfortunately, over the holidays this admonition is too often literally true.

Last year Marin had a good holiday record. We had no traffic fatalities over either Christmas or New Year's. In the 30 hours of Christmas, however, seven persons were injured. During the same New Year's period, five were hurt in traffic.

That's a record that it is important we maintain and improve.

In fact, it's a matter of life or death.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

ONE BIG PULL

Six-year-old Johnny proved he could read. Anxious to demonstrate how well he had handle marked in big letters "pull" and he did what it said.

Results were more than he bargained for. Three thousand students marched out of their classrooms for the first fire drill of the semester.

Youngsters have a unique way of giving outward expression to their inner power. This irrepressible energy may be applied in strange ways, to be sure. But we shouldn't forget that it can likewise be channeled in the right direction almost as easily as it finds an outlet in mischievous ways.

Mankind is much in need of the hope, zest and enthusiasm with which God has blessed youth in such abundance.

Nurture rather than repress this power in each child and it may do much to freshen and renew the face of the earth.

"Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not. For of such is the kingdom of God." (Mark 10:14)

Help us all to discover and develop the bit of greatness in every young person, O Lord.

At one time, Turks and Arabs reckoned their wealth by the number of fat ladies they kept in their harems.

Did you know that 80 per

Although people are marrying younger, they don't necessarily plunge headlong into wedlock. More than 87 per cent of marriages are still preceded by an engagement period, and 62 per cent of the engagement rings are given at Christmas.

Invitation To Idea Worth Living For

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

The recent articles in the Independent-Journal on our drinking habits are most interesting, the question arises, however — WHY?

And a possible answer has occurred to me — the need for a more satisfying life — for a deeper meaning to life.

Exactly one year ago, during the height of the holiday season, we made the effort to see "Freedom" — the African entry in the Film Festival. The framework of the four absolutes — honesty, purity, unselfishness, and love — together with seeking to live life on the basis of "what" is right, not for "who" is right, have helped guide us this past year.

May I personally extend to you and your family and friends, the same invitation that was extended to me a year ago? The Christmas play "He Was Not There" which left San Francisco for Baguio and the Philippines last March, is returning this weekend after encircling the globe. It will be at the Alcazar Theatre in San Francisco for Friday and Saturday evening performances, and for Saturday and Sunday afternoon performances. There is no charge. You may call either the theatre, Sherman and Clay or Moral Re-Armament headquarters in San Francisco for your reservations.

"He Was Not There" is a delightful satire on the American way of life, suitable for the whole family to see. You may also find through it, an idea worth living for!

Duke The Turtle: 'No Winter Yet'

EDITOR, Independent-Journal:

Tell everyone not to worry about that painting job or fixing that broken spot in the concrete walk; they can go blithely ahead since Duke the Turtle says that winter is not yet even in sight, let alone "around the corner," no matter what the calendar says!

Weeks and weeks ago I told everyone, including Mr. Thornton in charge of the streets and roads in our City of Fairfax, that they need have no fear, Duke said we would have fine weather! and, haven't we? What do the papers say? "Driest in over 100 years."

Duke knows, Duke always knows. He's over 80 years old and he's had experience. He is still living in his "summer summer" quarters with emphatic indications to everyone that he is NOT going to change them, at least for a while. He is abroad as usual, before 8 in the morning and flatly will not come indoors, but prefers staying out all night. Unusual? Decidedly! Duke usually is sleeping in doors at night by the beginning of August, and by late September safely sound asleep in his special quarters.

But Duke, today, is as busy as usual, exploring every corner of the garden each day, still merrily eating and drinking and getting heavier and heavier all the time. While he has not as yet started on his "banker's hours of 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.," which are the usual first indications that he is giving any thought of going to sleep, for the first time he has become fastidious about his food: rose petals, nothing but rose petals even if his owners must buy them!

Up to now he has been gorging himself on just about every kind of green leaf he could find, putting on the heaviest weight he has ever been known to have, prelude for a long, long sleep since Duke lives off his body while asleep.

Somehow Duke also knows that in addition he needs vitamins, for that long sleep ahead. For the first time in the 30 years and more his owners have had him, he is stretching himself out — legs, neck, head, in the warm sunshine, deliberately absorbing the rays of the sun. Always before, if in the sun, he has kept himself well within his shell; but not so today.

So tell everyone to water their gardens and enjoy the "Indian Summer" days still to continue, for once winter sets in they will be needing their overcoats and probably for a long, long time.

How do I know? Because the longer Duke sleeps, the longer, the colder the spring, and a cold summer. Because the wild animals, too, are telling us their story: the cows in the pasture have heavy, shaggy coats, so also have the horses, "sure sign of a severe winter." Even the pet skunk of the forest ranger has an exceedingly heavy coat "looks like a raccoon," while Duke's playmate, the Siamese cat, usually with a smooth sleek coat, proper for all Siamese cats, is positively as wooly as a Teddy Bear.

So enjoy the beautiful weather which still lies ahead, read all your books, Mr. Marquand, and let me tell you this. You never wrote anything better than "Sorrel and Son."

"Thank you," nodded Mr. Marquand with the trace of a smile, "but that wasn't mine. 'Sorrel and Son' was written by Warwick Deeping."

"Nonsense!" snapped the Bostonian, and stalked off to the wash room.

Ross Mayor Not Only An Orator, He Can Do Convincing Poses Too

Mayor Arthur Kanzee Jr. of Ross has been showing remarkable histrionic talents recently.

Just as last week's Ross Town Council meeting was breaking up, his fellow councilmen voted to commend the mayor for his fine speech at the dedication of the Ross 50-year anniversary plaque.

Councilman James McNab, with a little quirk of a smile on his face, commented that "there wasn't a dry eye in the crowd" while Mayor Kanzee was delivering his oration.

BUT MAYOR Kanzee's talents are not confined to oratory.

At one point in the Ross Council meeting, he announced cryptically that "the eagle is flying."

This remark, interpreted, meant that a fierce wrought-iron-and-brass eagle had just been installed in front of the new Ross post office. Which, in turn, meant that the Ross Council was obligated to fork over $100 to help pay for it. The rest of the money for the $600 eagle had been raised by subscription.

To dispel any vagueness in the minds of the other councilmen about the aspect of this eagle, Mayor Kanzee rose from his seat and gave a very convincing pose with claws

Not believing that a Ross mayor is prone to much levity, I believe Mayor Kanzee's eagle impersonation can be explained by the facts that:

1. It was 11 p.m. and the only people in the audience were Police Chief Joseph Regoni, Fire Chief A. T. Henrich, and one reporter.

2. Mayor Kanzee was wearing a gay and debonair red plaid jacket with leather buttons and patch pockets cut on the bias. (Such garments usually have a heady effect on the wearer.)

THERE WERE three routine applications for building variances before the Ross Council last week, and one turned out to be quite a family affair.

John H. Painter of Upper road, who happens to be a former Ross mayor and is the brother-in-law of Councilman John Witter, said he was "rather embarrassed" to be petitioning the council.

He wanted permission to construct a new home with an attached carport extending to one foot from the front property line. After close questioning, the council told him to go ahead.

Growth Of U.S. Economy Is Problem We Must Solve Before Reds Pass Us

The statement of policy put out by the Democratic Party's Advisory Council covers a lot of ground. But in one long passage dealing with the growth of the American economy, it has raised the crucial question on which everything else depends — defense, foreign policy, welfare measures, public services, and the people's standard of living.

In its essence, the question is whether the United States can afford to do the things which it needs to do.

THE OBVIOUS answer at the present time is that the pie is not big enough to be cut into such big slices. The issue, posed by the Democratic statement, is whether the pie can be made larger, more exactly, whether the average rate of economic growth, which has been about 3 per cent a year during this century, can be raised to 5 per cent a year.

If the rate of growth can be raised to 5 per cent, then the country will be able to afford what it needs to do. If the rate cannot be raised, it will have to cut back — as President Eisenhower is trying to do — on all the essential public needs, including defense.

Since the Democratic statement was put out by active politicians, what it says must be examined sceptically. Without setting up as an expert in this matter, it seems to me that while the statement puts the right question, the answer it gives makes everything sound easier than in fact it is.

THE RAISING of the rate of economic growth from an average of 3 per cent to an average of 5 per cent a year is a formidable undertaking.

Over a 10 year period (taking 1957 as a base for calculation) it would mean raising the gross national product from 434 billions to 707 billions. It would raise the government purchases of goods and services from 86 billions to 153 billions. It would raise gross private investment to support the growth of the economy from 67 billions to 123 billions, and it would raise what is left for private consumption from 281 to 431 billions.

THE QUESTION of increasing rate of growth is not a partisan question. It is the key question of policy in these times, and it is receiving the earnest study of serious students who cannot by any stretch of the imagination be labeled as "spenders" or "radicals."

This country must solve the problem in the years ahead of us. If it does not, it will be in great danger and as a power in the world and as an example of the free and democratic society, it will enter into its decline.

It is not at all an exaggeration to say that the grim competitive challenge with which we are confronted can be met only by a hard and sustained effort to increase the productivity of our economy. This is the way in which the Soviet Union is challenging us — by their own hard and sustained effort over the coming seven to ten years to surpass this country in per capita productivity. The Communists will win this competition unless our productivity is raised rapidly beyond what it is now.

THE REAL challenge which confronts us cannot be met by balancing the budget at a rate of production which is far below the country's potentiality — and by cheese-paring on defense, and by cheese-paring on the development of underdeveloped nations, and by hugging the illusion that Communist China and Communist Russia and Communist East Germany are all going to disappear if we dig in where we are and make grim faces at them.

In the real world, we are up against great mass societies of powerfully disciplined people, and unless we can restore and concentrate our own energies to outdo them, it will not matter at all how many adjectives we hurl at them in the battle of words.

2 Classrooms Opened At Novato High

Two new classrooms went into use this week in the new wing of Novato High School, still under construction.

The two classrooms, still without permanent light fixtures and other finishing touches, were put in use yesterday by social science classes, formerly held in the gymnasium. The other four classrooms of the wing are to be completed soon after Christmas, Principal Robert McKeay, reported.

Other major construction work at the school is expected to be finished by April 1, McKeay said. When complete, the high school will have a capacity for 875 students. There are now 575 enrolled.

Mill Valley Sign Law Under Study

Mill Valley merchants have decided to take another long look at the city's sign ordinance which created a furore last summer when enforcement measures were instituted.

Directors of the chamber of commerce, meeting at the city hall yesterday appointed a committee headed by banker Thomas B. Lathrop to "simplify" the provisions of the ordinance in printed form and submit it to all merchant members, together with explanatory notes, to determine whether merchants wish to seek modification of the ordinance.

Directors were informed that the San Francisco Better Business Bureau has offered its services to Marin communities in the event that questionable commercial practices are uncovered.

Directors also authorized revision of the Mill Valley brochure first printed in 1955.

WHEN TOBIN CALLS, THE QUAIL COME

This scene of woodland solitude, with quail lurching almost within arm's reach, was taken in San Rafael's Boyd Park, only a few steps from Mission avenue. George Tobin of 1555 Fourth street, shown in photo, feeds the quail daily at 1 p.m.

"When I call, they all come running," says Tobin. The quail have become exceedingly tame with their adopted guardian. Tobin recognizes each bird, and is especially pleased whenever a newcomer joins the covey.

Rattler Really Isn't Brave; He'd Rather Run Than Fight

SACRAMENTO (AP) — That nasty old villain of the great outdoors — the rattlesnake — really isn't so bad after all. The rattler really isn't brave. He'd rather run than fight.

At least that's what the state Department of Natural Resources says.

Conservation Supervisor John Michael says the rattler is the most maligned and misunderstood creature in California.

Most of the stories people hear about rattlesnakes just aren't true, Michael says.

In the first place, the reptile isn't pugnacious and won't strike unless provoked. Even when people are silly enough to go around provoking rattlesnakes, the snake still prefers to run.

The most common by far of California's five types of rattlers is the Northern Pacific rattler.

Because of variations in color, however, the snake goes by other names such as timber rattler, green rattler and western rattler. The color can range from pale green to almost black.

As for the rattlesnake's unique warning device—his rattle—Michael says most of what has been written about it is not true.

For instance, he says, the theory that the number of rattles is equal to the snake's age is completely false. The snake really adds a rattle every time it changes skins — sometimes six times in a year.

And, if it's any comfort to those who fear snakes, statistics show that fewer than 1,000 persons in the United States are bitten each year and only 30 to 35 die from snakebite.

After more than six months of discussion, directors of the North Marin Water District Tuesday agreed to a new rebate policy which they hope will encourage subdividers to install oversized water mains.

By unanimous vote, the directors approved a motion to put the policy into effect Jan. 1. Under its terms, subdividers will be repaid for costs of putting in larger lines as requested by the district. A flat charge will be collected from property owners connecting to the extended mains. The money will be put into a fund, which will be divided every year and paid to developers on a percentage basis.

A limit of 10 years was placed on the new rebate program.

Marilyn Loses Unborn Child

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Marilyn Monroe has lost her second unborn child in 16 months. The miscarriage was confirmed last night.

The 32-year-old blonde film star was reported recovering at her home here with her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, at her side.

But Joseph Wolhandler, Miss Monroe's personal press representative, said she is extremely upset. He said doctors determined she had lost her baby early this week, but that they did not set the exact time the miscarriage occurred.

Miss Monroe, who married Miller in 1956, was five or six weeks pregnant when she lost her first baby Aug. 1, 1957.

Wolhandler said she became pregnant again—last September while making a movie. Her doctors decided she could continue with the film in what Wolhandler described as a calculated risk. Miss Monroe finished the picture and returned here from Hollywood about two weeks ago.

Last Sept. 15, she was taken to a Hollywood hospital when she complained of feeling ill. Her illness was described as due to overwork.

Miss Monroe had cut out all social affairs and turned down normal publicity demands.

Marin Woman Given 35-Year Service Pin

Mrs. Florence Flanagan of San Anselmo was presented with a 35-year service pin at a recent awards banquet of California Casualty Indemnity Exchange in San Francisco. The insurance firm has granted her a three-month vacation which she plans to take in the spring.

Mrs. Flanagan came to San Anselmo some 50 years ago with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. N. E. Clemenson. Her father was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo. Her son-in-law and daughter are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Merz of San Rafael.

Reservists Set Year's Last Drill

Marin's Naval Reserve Composite Company 12-17 will hold its last drill of the year at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Room 23 at College of Marin.

Guest speaker will be Capt. William F. Calkins, manager of the Office of Agriculture Publications at the University of California.

During World War II, Captain Calkins was charged with selecting names for all new naval vessels. An account of his experiences has been reprinted in the December issue of Reader's Digest. The topic of Captain Calkins' talk will be "Down to the Sea in Ships' Names."

Capt. S. P. Murman of San Anselmo, commanding officer of the Marin company, said all reservists are invited to attend the Tuesday evening meeting. Members of the company will be in uniform.

This evening, Company 12-17 will hold its Christmas dinner at Treasure Island with Captain and Mrs. Murman as hosts.

Terra Linda Hopes To Buy 2nd Fire Truck

The Terra Linda Community Services District hopes to buy a second fire truck and additional fire-fighting equipment under a lease-purchase agreement with the Menlo Park Fire Department.

The truck, a 750-gallon-per-minute pumper, is being offered for sale by Menlo Park for $3,000.

District president John P. Namle and general manager Jack Brandon were authorized by the district board Tuesday night to negotiate a lease-purchase agreement, subject to review by County Counsel Leonard H. Jordan and final approval of the board.

Directors stipulated that any expenditure for additional equipment, such as hose, must not exceed $1,500. The extra gear would be included in the proposed agreement.

Namle also was authorized to obtain from Kenney Development Co. a quitclaim deed to property in Terra Linda Oaks Unit 1 designated for public park use by the Terra Linda master plan. The parcel is in the block bounded by Oleander drive, Orange Blossom lane and Orris Terrace. Dedication of the property was implied in Kenney's subdivision plans.

Resignations of Maj. Randolph H. Blain, the district's public works commissioner, and Mrs. Beverly Closson, recording secretary, were accepted by the board with regret. Blain is being transferred to McChord Air Force Base, Wash., and Mrs. Closson will move soon to Klamath Falls, Ore. No successors were appointed.

The board made a number of district budget revisions after being advised of unexpected surpluses in accounts of the now-defunct Terra Linda county service area and highway lighting district. These amounted to some $3,000.

Father's Forum: What To Do About Sex Offender Next Door

Mr. S. H. "My daughter was molested by a sex offender. She was not injured physically. But the emotional shock was great. She is 7. The offender is 28. He is a neighbor. We went to the police. My daughter told them what had happened. They refused. They told me to forget it. They said unless I could find some witnesses they would do nothing. That's awful. Do children have no protection? Shall I take the law into my own hands, and dispose of this man?"

Reply. Don't take the law into your own hands. Instead go to the offender. Tell him you know what happened. Tell him in no uncertain terms to stay away from children. Warn other parents to keep their children away from him. Try to do this without saying anything he could use you for. Some cops are slow to arrest sex offenders. They've seen many of them acquitted in court. Some juries are loath to convict a man on the unsupported word of a child. Recently I talked with a sex offender who had been arrested. Off the record he admitted 11 previous offenses. He hired a good lawyer, and was acquitted. Such things should not happen. But they do.

SCHOLARSHIP REQUIREMENT

Mr. M. A. "My boy is applying for a college scholarship. He is in the 12th grade, and gets A's in his subjects. He was told he won't qualify for the scholarship he wants because he has not taken part in extracurricular activities. The reason for that is he worked his way through high school. He has had no time for club meetings or sports. Isn't it a shame to require extracurricular activities under those circumstances?"

Reply. Indeed it is a shame. Be sure that his high school adviser knows about his working. Also have him mention it under the "remarks" section in the applications for scholarships. I'm told that some scholarship foundations do require a record of extracurricular activities. But many others don't. There are some scholarships reserved solely for boys who have earned their way. Ask his adviser to check them for him.

topic, as was done in Larkspur.

He said the next meeting will be next Monday at 7:30 at Neil Cummins School.

Larkspur Merger Unit Takes Rest

The Larkspur Committee to Study Merger has decided to cancel Monday night meetings the rest of this month to allow the Corte Madera study group "time to catch up."

Dr. Thurlow O. Jaegeling, chairman of the Larkspur committee, said the next meeting will be Jan. 5 at city hall. He said he hopes to have joint meetings with the Corte Madera committee after Jan. 5.

The Corte Madera study committee was formed about one month after the Larkspur committee. Corte Madera committee members recently asked for at least four meetings to catch up before scheduling a joint meeting.

Phil Arnone, Corte Madera chairman, said his members have decided to go back to a page-by-page study of the merger report rather than conducting the study by general

Public Interest Slight In Twin Cities Merger

By DICK STEINHEIMER

There's talk of merger these days in Larkspur and Corte Madera, but Joe Citizen scarcely seems excited about the prospect.

Outside of those by city officials and appointed committees, discussions of the merger proposal still seem to be in the over-the-breakfast-table stage for most folks. So far, businessmen in both cities have indicated little interest.

Contributing to the lack of interest, perhaps, is belief that merger of the two similar cities would hardly cause enough difference to argue about. Some citizens contend that any problems thrown up in the way of the consolidation would only be problems each city still would have to solve by itself.

LITTLE EFFORT

Also neither of the two city councils has made much effort to turn the $2,500 merger study published by Public Affairs Research, Inc., into a "best seller."

Of the 50 copies of the report received in July by each city, most in Larkspur have been set aside for possible loan while most in Corte Madera have been checked out to members of the council-appointed Citizen Committee to Study Merger.

Copies of the 75-page study, however, are available for loan from both city halls and the Larkspur city library. To date only about two dozen persons have checked out copies.

CONSOLIDATION ACT

In general, merger talks have centered around the Consolidation Act of 1909, which calls for a merger election upon presentation to the council of the consolidating city (Larkspur) of petitions from at least one-fifth of the registered voters in each of the cities.

If the merger is approved, an election is automatically called for a new council to govern the combined city.

Less talked about, but certainly known by officials in both cities, is a provision of the Act of 1913 which would allow a merger election to be called in Corte Madera by the Larkspur council upon petition of Corte Madera residents. Chief obstacle would be that the Larkspur council would continue as the ruling body and Corte Madera residents would be without elected representation until the next regular election.

RESULTS OF MERGER

What would merger do? As outlined by William R. Zion, manager of the research firm, it would:

1. Create a new city of about 8,000 persons, fourth largest in the county. The name of the city would be Larkspur, unless changed at the merger election or later by a two-thirds majority.
2. Reduce total governmental costs about $5,000 by elimination of duplication.
3. Reduce by at least $135,000 the immediate capital outlay needs for the two cities, by combining present and proposed facilities.
4. Improve governmental services, especially police, fire and public works.

BOUNDARY PROBLEMS

5. Help solve the problem of irregular boundaries and end inter-city disagreements.

6. Simplify handling of problems in specific areas such as flood control.

On the other side of the ledger, Zion points out that disadvantages would be:

1. Loss of time and effort and creation of controversy in an election campaign.
2. Possible disruptions of municipal activities.
3. Possible confusion and uncertainty as to the future.
4. Break in established elected civic leadership.
5. Loss of community identity.

6. Possible weakening of local areas' representation on city council.

BETTER POSITION

Zion points out the enlarged city would be in a better position to retain its strength during future development of the marshlands, which he said could conceivably "bog down" a smaller city.

Basic tax rate of the new city is estimated at 84 cents per $100, about 49 cents less than is now paid in Corte Madera and 16 cents less than Larkspur.

Adding taxes in each area for sewers and road bonds, total taxes in Larkspur would be $1.47 as compared with $1.63, and in Corte Madera, $1.73 as compared with $2.22.

Present problems of the two communities seem to fairly well counterbalance each other.

OWN LIBRARY

Larkspur residents have the benefit of owning their own excellent library and have an efficient sanitation system, but their city needs more street work.

In Corte Madera, residents pay for but do not own their library, and the sanitation system (not town-owned) is old and has proved expensive to operate. On the other hand, Corte Madera streets have somewhat fewer deficiencies and the city is in a good position to gain sales tax revenue from Corte Madera Center.

If nothing else adds a little adrenalin to spirits of residents of the two cities, they might note Zion's comments regarding mergers:

"There have not been frequent consolidations of cities in California. In fact, they occur so rarely that little information on the history of the subject is available."

New Tokyo Air Service

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—Japan Air Lines President Seijiro Yanagida says he expects to begin regular flight service from Tokyo to Los Angeles about next May.

Present plans are for three DC7C flights weekly into Los Angeles.

Boat In Distress

HONOLULU (AP)—A Japanese fishing boat with 25 persons aboard sent out a distress message last night saying she was flooding seriously.

The Navy quoted the Chiyoh Maru as reporting a large hole in her hull. The 150-ton vessel was 300 miles southwest of Wake Island.

A six-hour search by a Navy amphibian plane failed to find the stricken craft.

Strike Hits Resorts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Eastern Air Lines strike, now in its 24th day, is costing Miami area resort men an estimated six million dollars a week.

The grounded Eastern planes normally bring 177,000 passengers to Florida during December. A company spokesman said only 15 per cent of these can be handled by other airlines serving the state.

500,000 Elected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The census bureau said last night there are more than 500,000 elected local officials in the United States—about 30 for each 10,000 persons.

The bureau also reported nearly half of the officials serve without pay, about two-fifths are paid on a part-time basis and about one in seven is paid full time.

Dennis Adopts Son

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bing Crosby's 24-year-old twin son Dennis has adopted his wife's 7-year-old son by a previous marriage.

His adoption of Gregory von Douglas-Iltu was approved yesterday. The boy's father, George von Douglas-Iltu is an actor's agent.

Mrs. Crosby is former Las Vegas showgirl Pat Sheehan. She is expecting a baby in January.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan has arranged to relay to radio stations around the world the Christmas Midnight Mass from the Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem.

Contest Judging Starts Tomorrow

Judging of outdoor Christmas lighting displays entered in a contest sponsored by the Outdoor Christmas Tree Assn. will be held between 6 and 9 o'clock each evening from tomorrow through Dec. 26.

Entries in the contest closed Monday. Mrs. F. A. Schroeder of Corte Madera is Marin chairman of the contest, which includes five other Bay Area counties.

Bob Hope On Yule Trip

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bob Hope is off on his eighth Christmas tour to entertain American servicemen overseas. Leaving with him on an 18,000-mile tour were Jerry Colonna, Elaine Dunn, Mollie Bee, Randy Sparks and Les Brown and his orchestra.

On Christmas Day they will entertain troops of the NATO command in Naples. They also will appear in Iceland, Germany, Spain, Morocco and the Azores.

Beware Of Dishes

BERKELEY (AP)—Do you have any brightly colored, inexpensive Oriental dishware such as chop suey bowls or other food containers?

If so, and if you have acquired them within the past two years, maybe you should give them the vinegar test for poison lead. Two Berkeley city health officers said today.

Some but not all of these dishes give off lead from their color pigments or even from their glazed surfaces when they come into contact with acid food, the health workers said. This dissolved lead becomes a source of poisoning.

Papal Delegate Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, 52, apostolic nuncio to the Philippines, was named today as the Vatican's apostolic delegate to the United States—the seventh since 1893.

He succeeds Amleto Giovanni Cardinal Cicognani, who this week was created a cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church.

The new delegate was appointed by Pope John XXIII.

Cute Kid, That

CHICAGO (UPI)—Employees of a major Chicago department store smiled benignly as they watched a 7-year-old boy doggedly maneuver a tricycle down three flights of escalator stairs and out the main floor entrance.

The toy department later reported that the tricycle was a floor model.

Marines Aid Navajos

EL TORO, Calif. (AP)—The Marines are playing Santa Claus for needy Navajo Indians because they remember what great fighters the Navajo Leathernecks were in World War II and Korea.

Marine transport planes flew 16 tons of food, clothing, medical supplies and Christmas gifts to Winslow, Ariz., yesterday.

The contributions were collected by 1,187 Marines and their families, high school students and Cub Scouts of El Toro Marine Air Station and surrounding area.

Morgan Co. In Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—A famous name in American financial history, J. P. Morgan & Co., will undergo a slight alteration as a result of a merger.

The Morgan firm will be merged with Guaranty Trust Co. to form Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York. The new institution will be the fourth largest bank in the nation on the basis of capital, assets and earnings.

Both banks are known as "wholesale banks" rather than retail banks. Wholesale banks act as banks for businesses and other banks rather than going in for such consumer items as personal loans. The merged bank will continue as a wholesale bank.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

British To Pay Up

LONDON (AP)—The British government is to pay the full 187 million dollars in capital and interest due this year on its outstanding American and Canadian loans.

The decision was announced by Chancellor of the Exchequer Derick Heathcoat Amory last night.

Panama Extends Limit

PANAMA (AP)—President Ernesto de la Guardia has signed into law a bill extending Panama's territorial waters 12 miles out to sea. The limit had been three miles.

The United States, under its treaty with Panama, has jurisdiction over Canal Zone waters only out to the three-mile limit. In the past the United States has refused to recognize any claims to waters more than three miles from shore.

Lock Picker Gone Again

ABERDEEN, Scotland (UPI)—Police launched a new search today for World War II commando hero John Ramensky, who last night made his fifth escape from prison.

Ramensky, 53, who was asked to join the army while a prison inmate because of his knowledge of safe-cracking, picked a series of locks at Peterhead Prison near here. He last escaped from prison on Oct. 17, but was recaptured after three days.

ATTENTION, I-J TELEVIEWERS

The I-J television log is based on information supplied by TV stations and networks. Program changes reported to the I-J before deadline are reflected in the printed log. Discrepancies between the I-J log and actual program schedules result from changes reported too late for publication, or from program changes that are not reported to the press at all.

The I-J will appreciate post card reports from TV viewers on log inaccuracies, giving date, time, and channel of log errors.

LOOKING FOR HOME BY CHRISTMAS

Lattice is the name of this year-old female terrier, which was declared "Pet of the Week" at the Marin County Humane Society at 402 Third street, San Rafael, for that wistful expression with which she seems to be saying, "Please—won't somebody put me under the Christmas tree?" The dog is available for adoption at the Humane Society shelter. (Photo by Kathy Wheeler)
